LABOR CONFIDENT OF WILSON VETO OF THE RAILROAD BILL

WILSON'S PROMISE OF "SQUARE DEAL" GIVES HOPE FOR DEFEAT OF ESCH-CUMMINS MEASURE

BILL PASSES THE SENATE

Hines' Attitude on Bill is a Mystery but His Word May Influence Wilson's Action—Guarantee Clause Is Opposed

(By Ralph F. Couch)
By United Press Leased Wire

Washington, D. C.—Railroad union men today are confident the president will veto the Esch-Cummins railroad bill.

The measure, passed by the senate late yesterday and by the house Saturday was expected to be sent to the white house today.

The railroad men's confidence of a presidential veto is based on what they interpret as promises of a "square deal" made by the president last summer when he asked them to postpone pressing their wage demands pending result of the government's effort to bring down prices. The labor section of the Esch-Cummins bill does not give them a "square deal" union men contend and they further argue that in passing the measure congress has deliberately ignored the president's promises to them.

What action Wilson takes on the railroad bill will probably be influenced by the advice of Rail Director Hines whose attitude toward it is more or less of a mystery. Both opponents and friends of the measure claim his support. In Louisville recently Hines spoke in defense of government control. The Plumb plan league had this speech printed and mailed to thousands of persons as they regarded it an argument for continuation of federal control. Then at a recent meeting attended by congressmen and union men, Hines was accused of being the author of the labor sections of the measure. Hines denied this in a letter which was put into the congressional record.

On the other hand notification was sent to all railroads through Hines yesterday that the roads would go back to private control March 1 and friends of the bill took this to mean that the president would sign the bill. Hines sent this notice two hours before the senate voted on the conference report.

What would follow a veto is uncertain. It is generally believed that not enough votes could be mustered in the house to pass the bill over the veto. But the senate apparently would override it. The vote yesterday was 47 to 17. One of the principal objections the president probably will take into consideration in deciding whether to veto the bill is its guarantee to the roads of 5½ per cent net operating income. Some congressmen consider this provision unconstitutional. Petitions have been received from farmers objecting to it.

It is pointed out also that by a veto the president might regain for the administration the friendliness of those labor leaders who were antagonized by the government's coal strike injunction.

Several hundred railroad union officials were here today to direct wage negotiations with President Wilson. Each of the fourteen big rail unions is represented by local officials from all parts of the country.

Conferences will continue all day officials expected. The conferences were sectional. Officials of each union met in executive session to pass on the negotiations with the president and devise new plans.

A general conference of all the unions was to be called as soon as the sectional meetings were finished. Chief executives of the unions expected this general conference would occur today. Its first action is expected to be the sending of a letter to the president asking him to veto the railroad bill.

LAUNCH LENROOT BOOM FOR THE PRESIDENT

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington, D. C.—A boom for Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin for president will be launched at a dinner to be given tonight in his honor. Many senators and members of the house have been invited. Wisconsin friends of Lenroot are behind the movement. Lenroot is a progressive republican.

Lenroot said he had been advised of the plan to boom him for the nomination but he has not authorized the use of his name in this connection.

CHICAGO HOLDS FIRST NON-PARTISAN ELECTION

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago.—Chicago held its first non-partisan city election today.

Twenty five of the thirty five wards were to know tonight who their aldermen will be, there being only one entry in ten wards and two in fifteen others. The final elections are to be held April 6.

Much interest was displayed in bond proposals which, if carried, will mean the expenditure of $20,000,000 for beautifying the city's water front.

The chief interest in aldermanic fights lay in the indication as to what forces can claim control of the city politically.

INCREASED THRIFT URGED BY BANKERS AT ANNUAL MEETING

OUTAGAMIE COUNTY BANKS WELL REPRESENTED AT MEETING AT NORTHWESTERN HOUSE MONDAY

PROSSER IS PRESIDENT

Seymour Man Heads Association and Appleton Man Elected Vice President—State Banking Examiner Gives Chief Address

Increased thrift and conservative investments on the part of the public were strongly urged as a timely program for the banks of this locality at the annual meeting of the Outagamie County Bankers association last evening at the Northwestern house.

Bankers from all parts of the county were present and enjoyed the banquet served in the hotel dining room. C. R. Prosser of Seymour, who has served as vice president for the past year was elected president of the association. R. S. Powell, president of the First National bank of this city, was chosen as vice president. A vote was taken to combine the offices of secretary and treasurer, and Henry Schultheis of Dale was elected to fill this position.

Marshall Cousins of Madison, state commissioner of banking, was the first speaker on the program. His address dealt with the place and usefulness of the state bank as well as the national, and from statistics compiled, showed how the state banks lead in the banking business in the aggregate, having greater combined resources than all the national banks of the country. They are closer to the people, he stated, and are doing their full share in furthering the business interests of the community. The wonderful growth of the state institutions was pointed out, their resources being nearly double that of five years ago.

The need of legislation to increase the appropriation for, and number of examiners of Wisconsin banks, and laws to regulate the sale of bank stock to keep it from falling into the hands of promoters, chain banks, or men who had other than the public welfare at heart were matters presented by Mr. Cousins for the consideration of the association. He complimented both the national and state banks upon the conservative, cordial co-operation that had been given his department in keeping Wisconsin banks up to a high standard.

Encouragement of thrift was urged as a fitting program for all banks at this time. "Previous to the war," he remarked, "the American people were the most wasteful on the face of the earth. During the war they were induced to save. There is still much work to be done along this line. A campaign must be waged to prevent people from going back to their old ways. We are reckless in expenditures and do not stop to ask the cost. We pay the bill without second thought."

Judson G. Rosebush, presented a most interesting and impressive discourse on the trend of the financial affairs of the country's large institutions. He reviewed circulars sent out

ALLIES TELL POLES AND RUMANIANS NOT TO ATTACK SOVIETS

HELP IS GUARANTEED, HOWEVER, IF SOVIETS START THE FIGHT—CALL MONEY CONFERENCE

(By Webb Miller)
By United Press Leased Wire

London.—The council of premiers has decided to notify Poland and Rumania not to attack the Russian bolsheviki, it was understood today. In event these nations are attacked by soviet armies, however, the entente will guarantee its help.

Terms for peace with soviet Russia as discussed by the council yesterday were said to include demands that the soviet government abandon its foreign propaganda and recognize loans to the Russian government's preceding the soviets.

The council's conference over the condition of exchange and high prices has been set down forthwith. The United States, according to information here will be asked to participate. Experts will be called into conference with the council over the financial situation.

At today's session the French representatives were expected to enter their protest over the allotment of German shipping, declaring France did not get a fair share.

It was learned semi-officially that the new Allied policy toward Russia was brought about by necessity for securing additional supplies of foodstuffs. By regeneration of Russia, it was said the Allied leaders hope to relieve the acute food shortage in the central European countries.

In some quarters reports that soviet armies already have attacked the Poles were received with considerable anxiety.

These observers pointed out that the attacks, if they presaged a movement in force, might have a tremendous influence on future Allied relations with the soviet.

James O'Grady, British representative in the recent British-soviet conversations at Copenhagen, spent yesterday at the foreign office drawing up his report on his conferences with Maxim Litvinoff the bolshevik emissary. The report, it was understood, will be presented to the council of premiers.

Allied Premiers Struggle For Friendship Of Russia

Lloyd George and Millerand Strive to Gain Preponderance of Influence in Soviet Russia—Lenine Conance of Influence in Soviet Russia—Lenin Con-He Profits From Their Action

(By Ed. L. Keen)
By United Press Leased Wire

London.—First definite steps toward settlement of the Russian question, universally regarded as the biggest of international problems, were taken by the entente today.

The council of premiers, meeting here decided:

To send an official commission into Russia to study conditions, under supervision of the league of nations.

To encourage commerce between the soviet government and the rest of Europe.

To discourage warfare between the bolsheviki and the border states, but to aid the latter if attacked by the red armies.

To withhold diplomatic recognition of the soviets "until convinced that the bolshevik horrors have ended."

In semi-official circles the action of the council was generally regarded as forecasting complete recognition of Russia in the future, economically and politically, with consequent removal of her alleged menace to the rest of Europe and restoration of her status among nations. This it is believed will be accompanied by an invitation to join the league of nations.

London.—Discussion of the Russian situation in the present sessions of the council of premiers has developed one of the most important diplomatic struggles in history, in which Premiers Lloyd George and Millerand are jockeying to gain a position of preponderating influence in the new Russia which they believe will emerge from the present chaos, in the opinion of high diplomatic officials here today.

The same conditions, they believe, lie back of the debate on Turkey, with the tentative decision to allow the sultan to remain in Constantinople.

Outlining the deeper significance of the council's discussions, diplomats pointed out that back of every move by each of the two leading Allied premiers is an attempt to improve the position of his country in relations with the new Russia.

Far-seeing statesmen now realize clearly that in the future Russia will play an immense part in European politics, diplomats pointed out and the nation having the friendship of the Russian people and its government will have powerful backing.

Both France and Great Britain have gained the enmity of the soviets, it was pointed out, and each now has a different plan to get back into Russia's good graces. Premier Lloyd George, according to the diplomats believes that the soviet government is destined to remain in power, at least temporarily. For that reason he has pressed the immediate resumption of trade between Russia and Great Britain as the initial step to re-establishment of British prestige. Now, they believed, the British premier is ready to advocate open peace with the soviet government.

The French, it was pointed out, have incurred greater hostility with the Russians. While Millerand realizes that Lloyd George's course offers the greater advantages he is forced to carry out the policy started by his predecessor—consistent opposition to the soviet government. His chief hope, the diplomats believed, is that the Moscow government will fall, or at least be so organized that France can execute an about face without apparent inconsistency, or arousing trouble at home.

Diplomats agreed that the position of Premier Nitti is that of holding the balance of power and they credited reports that he is in complete accord with Lloyd George.

With this background, diplomats said, the Allied attitude toward Turkey necessarily had undergone a considerable change. Premier Lloyd George, they pointed out, in view of the Russian question has backed down on his position that the Turk must not remain in Constantinople.

The premier, they believe, realized that Russia's vital interest in the Turkish capital has not changed, and that he plans to show the Russians he is keeping their interest in mind by following out the Russian idea that no disposition must be made of the city without Russian agreement.

The diplomats were agreed that Lenin understands the whole diplomatic chess game. They pointed out that in a recent Moscow wireless he gave a general outline of the entire situation, stressing Russia's position of advantage.

Lenin realizes fully they said, that Russian can "sit tight" and let Britain and France play against each other, secure in the knowledge that her position will be benefited no matter which of the Allied leaders comes out on top.

FOREIGN BUSINESS OF AMERICA SHOWS A HEALTHY GROWTH

IMPORTS CONSTANTLY GROWING AND EXCHANGE RATE IS RAPIDLY REACHING BETTER BASIS.

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—Exports for January totaled $731,000,000, an increase of $49,000,000 over December, the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce announced today.

Imports for January were $474,000,000, an increase of $93,000,000 over December.

Import figures set a new high record. They were more than doubled as compared with January 1919 when they totalled $213,000,000. For seven months ending with January imports totalled $2,768,000,000, as compared with $1,698,000,000 for the corresponding period the previous year.

In view of the department of commerce officials this will have a tendency toward stabilizing foreign exchange.

"It shows that the countries are now finding more goods to send us in payment for goods they are obliged to take from us," it was stated.

"Heretofore the great excess of exports over imports has kept the exchange rate down because countries have not been able to pay."

For the seven months ended with January exports totaled $4,594,000,000, against $3,797,000,000 for the corresponding period of the previous year. As compared with January 1919 exports for January this year increased $108,000,000.

EIGHTY GUARD RECRUITS TAKE OATH LAST NIGHT

Several More Men are Needed to Bring Company Up to Required Strength — Federal Muster March 10

Eighty recruits who joined the Appleton machine unit of the Wisconsin National guard in the recent campaign were sworn in by Captain Fred Hoffman, commanding officer, at the armory last evening.

The total strength of the company is now 91 men. Several more recruits are needed to bring the company up to the required strength.

The federal muster of the company will be held here March 10, Lieut. Raymond Manville, recruiting officer, stated today.

U. S. BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION SEEKS PROFITEERING EVIDENCE AGAINST RETAILERS

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington.—The United States bureau of investigation is hunting evidence against retail meat profiteers in every section of the country, it was learned at the department of justice today. Arrests are expected.

Assisting in the search for profiteering which was undertaken at the order of Attorney General Palmer are the 40,000 volunteer workers connected with fair price organizations. The bureau of investigation personnel is approximately 10,000, making 50,000 who are taking part in the drive.

Palmer on his way back to Washington from Topeka is being kept informed of developments in the search.

Announcement that the retail meat dealers were to be called to account was made by Palmer a few days ago in Chicago. He pointed out that wholesale prices of most kinds of meat have been cut in the last three months while many retail dealers have made no change in their prices. Some even have increased prices.

At first the dealers declared the low priced meat had not yet reached them and that they were selling meat they had bought at former prices. Justice department officials have, however, been forced to the conclusion that some retail dealers are taking advantage of the situation to profiteer.

Consumers were requested to co-operate by justice officials, who pointed out they should watch for evidences of meat profiteering by retail dealers and notify the nearest district attorney.

ROTARIANS MAKE MERRY AT DINNER ON ANNIVERSARY

LADIES' NIGHT BANQUET AT Y. M. C. A. BRINGS OUT CROWD OF JOYOUS BUSINESS MEN

COMPOSE ORIGINAL SONGS

Dr. E. H. Brooks Stirs Up Vocal Cords With Parodies on Popular Songs —History of Rotary Club is Reviewed

Ladies' night at the Rotary club meeting last evening was a marked success. The 15th anniversary banquet given at the Y. M. C. A. brought out an attendance well over the hundred mark, including members and their ladies.

Musical numbers were rendered following the banquet by Dean Frederick Vance Evans of Lawrence college, who sang "A Little Bit of Heaven", transforming the wording to make Rotary fill the sublime place that the land of Killarney holds in the song. Prof. Percy Fullinwider rendered a violin solo, accompanied by Max Schultz. Both singer and violinist were greeted with a hearty ovation and responded with encores. Singing of Rotary songs and parodies arranged by Dr. E. H. Brooks also had their place in the chain of merry making.

F. S. Bradford, the first president of the Appleton club, gave a very interesting address dealing with the history of both the national and local clubs. He told how the club started in Chicago February 23, 1905 with four members, a lawyer, a mining operator, a coal dealer and a tailor. Its growth was traced until now it holds prominent place in six-hundred cities in the United States, Canada and many other places, giving it international significance. The name "Rotary," was derived from the practice of holding the meetings in rotation at the business places of the different members.

Dr. Manley J. Sanborn, the club's present head, also delivered a short address. The most interesting thing he related was his experience in visiting the international headquarters in Chicago. An extensive organization is maintained in the furtherance of the club, located in the Standard Oil building on Michigan avenue. The methods of assisting the local clubs and planning the establishment of new ones were also dwelt upon.

Mr. and Mrs. William N. Chase, who recently came here from Fort Dodge, Iowa, to reside, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Way of this city were guests of the club at the meeting.

Considerable boosting was done for the district convention which is to be held in Wausau April 13 and 14, it being the aim of the club to have at least fifty of its members in attendance. One of the songs written by Dr. Brooks and sung to the tune of "Marching Through Georgia," was especially designed to promote the convention. The wording is as follows:

"Bring the good old suit case boys.
We're going sixty strong
Over to the Wausau meet
A jolly, laughing throng.
What we'll do when we arrive.
Now you will know ere long—
When we go marching to Wausau.

"Hurrah! Hurrah! All troubles leave behind!
Hurrah! Hurrah! The best club of its kind!
Three rousing cheers for Rotary
In every fellow's mind.
When we go marching to Wausau.

"When our good "Doc Sammy"
Starts a marching down the street,
Manly, Joe, and Judson doing "goose step" with their feet;
Dean and August, Karl and Vick
With pants all pressed up neat,
Biff! Bang! Are all off for Wausau!"

LESS THAN 600 VOTES CAST AT 1:30 O'CLOCK

LITTLE INTEREST IS BEING DISPLAYED IN ELECTION ON CITY GOVERNMENT FORM

The election today deciding whether Appleton will adopt the managerial form of government is bringing out one of the lightest vote in the city's recent history. Up until 1:30 o'clock only 590 votes had been cast. This is about one-fifth of the voting strength of Appleton, and is far short of half the number cast in an ordinary election in the past up to the same hour.

Little or no comment is made in the downtown section today regarding the issue. It was said, however, that an educational campaign should have been waged to put the issue squarely before the general public.

The vote at 1 o'clock was as follows:

First Ward	120
Second Ward	71
Third Ward	130
Fourth Ward	98
Fifth Ward	87
Sixth Ward	84
Total	590

Revenue Officers Will Make Arrests Without Warrants if Federal Action is Not Promptly Forthcoming, They Say

By United Press Leased Wire

Marquette, Mich. — Warrants for the arrest of Martin McDonough, prosecuting attorney of Iron County and other officials alleged to have interfered with enforcement of prohibition laws, were refused today by United States Commissioner H. B. Hatch.

When called upon by Major A. V. Dalrymple for warrants Commissioner Hatch said he could not issue them without instructions from either U. S. District Attorney Myron Walker at Grand Rapids or United States Judge Clarence Sessions or Attorney General Palmer.

Hatch in a telegram to Walker at Grand Rapids asked instructions as to whether he should issue the

READY FOR REVENOOERS

Iron River, Mich.—Most of the "rum rebels" of Iron River were down at the station by noon today watching for the "revenoocrs" of Chicago, scheduled to "clean up" the county.

They had on their "Sunday best." All were on their good behavior. For two days the city prison has been empty.

Mayor L. A. Johnson had made no preparations for an "official" reception.

Police Chief S. H. Senoiba is withholding a snicker. He's the man who holds the keys to the lockup. If the federal officers want to arrest him and other city and county officials charged with resisting a federal officer—they'll have to negotiate with him for the keys if they want to use the jail.

There are 5,000 excited citizens here. There musn't be any trouble—according to Deputy Sheriff Jess Allen—because the two hospitals are filled up and physicians are busy with the "flu."

He suggested they might be able to use the nine churches as temporary hospitals if anything serious develops—but was certain nothing exciting will happen.

requested warrants immediately and after arrests are made by Dalrymple he should issue warrants and hear the case.

Dalrymple announced he would wait until 2 p. m. for arrival of warrants. If warrants have not arrived at that hour Dalrymple said he would proceed immediately with his party of armed deputies to Iron River and make arrests.

Following the conference with Hatch, Dalrymple said "Hatch stated he was willing to issue the warrants but that he is following instructions."

Major Dalrymple's invading force was augmented today by 12 picked men from the state constabulary. They were assigned to him by Lieut. Downing, commanding in the peninsula. Colonel R. C. Vandercook, commander of the state police made the offer of assistance.

The party will proceed first to Iron River but there were evidences the "clean up" force would investigate conditions throughout this section of the state. Dalrymple dispatched deputies to various nearby towns on different errands.

DEMANDS SHOWDOWN ON TREATY OF PEACE

REPUBLICAN LEADERS INSIST THAT TREATY REMAIN IN SENATE UNTIL DISPOSED OF

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington — Republican leaders have decided to force the issue on the peace treaty and bring a final "showdown" without more delay. Senator Lodge today gave notice in the senate that on Thursday he will call up the treaty and insist that it remain before that body without interruption until disposed of.

Lodge said that he had agreed that the civil service retirement bill and the dyestuffs bill fight be considered today and tomorrow.

"After that, however, I cannot consent to anything else except conference reports interfering with the treaty," he said.

Immediately after Lodge gave this notice Senator Hitchcock, democratic leader, left the chamber for a conference with other leading democrats.

James McGinnis and son Milton have returned home from an extended business trip to Boston.

IRON RIVER PEOPLE WATCH AND WAIT AS FEDERAL STORM PREPARES FOR DESCENT

SURRENDER TOKENS

Citizens Float "White Flag" as Indication of Their Peaceful Intentions—Ready for Trouble of Any Kind

(By J. L. O'Sullivan.)
By United Press Leased Wire

Negaunee, Mich.—The rum crushing forces of Major A. V. Dalrymple will fall upon the mining village of Iron River late tonight.

Bent upon arresting state officials alleged to have interfered with enforcement of the prohibition statute, Dalrymple, in charge of the central states, went alone to Marquette, Mich., early today. He expected to obtain warrants there for the arrest of State's Attorney M. S. McDonough and other county officials in charge of conspiracy to defeat the law. Dalrymple said he expected Attorney General Palmer to notify District Attorney Walker, Grand Rapids, Mich., to have arranged for the issuance of the warrants.

The Dalrymple party grew during the night as it rushed into the snow depths and zero weather of this peak of the country. Revenue and prohibition officers clamored aboard the car at all principal stops. Thirty men are to be in the party which will descend upon Iron River at 11 p. m.

Reports all the way up the state were that the mining region has cleaned up for the visit. It was said there will be opposition. But the party is prepared for any emergency. It is said it is equipped with every need from medicine chests to high powered rifles and snow shoes.

Major Dalrymple early today outlined the purposes of his expedition for the United Press.

"We are going to see that the federal law is enforced," he said. "We are going to seize the home made wine which was seized by one of our men but later taken from him by County Attorney McDonough on the flimsy pretext that my man couldn't show credentials. We are going to arrest the men who helped McDonough. They include five deputy sheriffs, Chief of Police S. H. Sensiba and Police Captain Claude Brown, Iron River.

We will also pick up the three Italians who made the wine, illegally made it, according to my men. They are Steve, John and Joseph Scalcucci.

"It's a question as to whether the federal law can be enforced. I think it can. No state now dare raise the question of state's rights.

"A special assistant attorney general probably will be appointed to try our prisoners in the Grand Rapids district court."

Dalrymple expressed confidence in Leo J. Grove, his assistant, who reported the "whisky rebellion."

Iron River, Mich.—Iron County, Michigan, today had more than three sheets to the wind.

Panic stricken residents of this mining country, awaiting the approach of "huge bands of federal officers armed with all modern implements of war," tacked their bed sheets to the shacks in token of surrender. Pillow cases and other articles, approaching whiteness, were also made to serve as tokens of surrender.

All night long lanterns bobbed over the rugged country here as residents cached their supplies of home made liquor. Some, uncertain as to their rights, destroyed their kegs and barrels, staining the snow with wines of a high percentage.

Iron county simply surrendered. There will be no oppositions to Major A. V. Dalrymple and his men when they arrive late tonight.

County Attorney McDonough, who compelled Prohibition Officer Leo J. Grove to give up the wine he had seized from the Stalcucci brothers here, was first to announce that there will be no trouble. McDonough said he was convinced he acted within his rights, charging Grove failed to show proper credentials.

McDonough admitted he ordered Grove out of town. He claimed stories of the "rebellion" were exaggerated.

FOREIGN MONEY RATES OFF AT THE OPENING

By United Press Leased Wire

New York. — There was a sharp break in sterling at the resumption of business in the money market today. The British pound fell 5¼ cents to $3.35¼, at the opening.

HEALTH MESSAGE TO REACH ALL SCHOOL CHILDREN IN CITY

ADDRESSES ARE BEING DELIVERED IN SCHOOLS TODAY AND WEDNESDAY—MEET TONIGHT.

The program for the Health Week being conducted by the Appleton Woman's club has been completed and opened this morning with talks at the Columbus, Franklin, and Zion schools by Alfred Johnson of Milwaukee, connected with the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association. William Doll of Lawrence college gave similar talks this afternoon at St. Paul, St. Mary, St. Joseph and the Sacred heart schools. Dr. Brumbaugh of Milwaukee, who will speak tonight at the meeting of the Appleton Women's club, is also aiding in the program. He talked this afternoon at the Appleton High school at 1:30 o'clock, at 2:15 o'clock at the Lincoln school, and at three o'clock at the First ward school. Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock he will be at the Actual Business college and at 9:30 at the court house.

Mr. Doll will complete the remainder of the program. He will speak at 2:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Fourth ward school, at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon at the Third ward school, and at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon at the Fifth ward.

In this way, the club will reach every child in the city with its message of health. The talks will be short, educational and instructive.

APPLETON FIRM SHOWS ITS WARES AT TRACTOR SHOW

Appleton was represented by two men at the annual tractor exhibit at Kansas City, Mo., last week, said to be the largest and most successful exhibit of its kind in the country. Appleton men in attendance were W. H. Williams, sales manager, and George Lorch, factory superintendent for the Eagle Manufacturing company. The company had a large exhibit at the show and, as a result entered into several large contracts and began negotiations which are expected to result in even more business. A large number of tractor dealers attended the show, Mr. Williams said this morning.

Albert Trathen of Shawano stopped here today while on his way to New London on business.

Flu and Colds How They Can Be Prevented

Sleep Well—Eat Wisely—Exercise Regularly—Avoid Persons Having Colds—Don't Worry

Inflamed Air Passages Make Ideal Breeding Grounds for Flu Germs

Flu This Year is Milder

While we know very little more about the flu now than we did last year—the germ itself has never been positively identified—still most authorities agree that the flu germs are breathed in. If the system is in good shape and the membrane or lining of the air passage is in healthy condition—these germs are thrown off.

A good plan is to melt a little Vick's VapoRub in a spoon night and morning, and inhale the vapors, also apply a little up the notsrils several times a day, especially just before being exposed to crowds.

Treat All Colds Promptly

Above all, keep free from colds, as colds irritate the lining of the air passages and make them real breeding grounds for germs. Prompt use of Vick's VapoRub aids in preventing colds. For head colds, sore throat or hoarseness, rub Vicks well over the throat and chest and cover with a warm flannel cloth. For deep chest colds, severe sore throat or bronchitis, hot wet towels should be first applied to the throat, chest and back between the shoulder blades to open the pores. Then Vicks should be rubbed in over the parts until the skin is red—spread on thickly and covered with two thicknesses of hot flannel cloths. Leave the clothing loose around the neck, so the vapors, released by the body heat, may be freely inhaled.

These vapors, inhaled with each breath, carry the medication directly to the lungs and air passages. At the same time Vicks is absorbed thru and stimulates the skin, thus aiding to relieve the congestion within.

Use of External Treatment for Colds Increasing

Vick's VapoRub is the discovery of a North Carolina druggist who found how to combine in Salve form, the standard time tested remedies, Camphor — Menthol — Eucalyptus — Thyme, etc.—so that when the salve is applied to the body heat, these ingredients are liberated in the form of vapors.

Vicks is particularly recommended for children's croup or colds, since it is externally applied and therefore can be used freely and often without the slightest harmful effets.

The best evidence of the value of Vicks is the steadily increasing number of people who have been converted to the use of this "outside" treatment.

Beginning with the customers of a small retail drug store, the use of Vicks has grown—year by year—state by state—until now more than 17 million jars are used annually. And this in spite of the fact that Vicks is a new form of treatment to many folks in the North and West. Vicks can be had at all druggists in three sizes—30c, 60c, or $1.20.

HEALTH CHARTS FOR CHAMP SEAL SALESMEN

PRIZES WILL BE GIVEN THIS WEEK TO SCHOOLS MAKING RECORDS IN RED CROSS SEAL SALES

In connection with the Health Week programs which are being conducted in the schools of the city this week by Health department of the Appleton Woman's club, Health charts are being presented to each of the grades which sold over $5 worth of Red Cross seals last Christmas. The sixth grade of the Lincoln school, in charge of Miss Jackson, sold $35.32 worth of seals, the highest number of any of the grades in the city, and will receive the picture, "Her Son" as a gift of the Child Welfare Circle.

Number of schools, including Lawrence college, Appleton High school, Franklin school, St. Paul, Bushey, Vocational and the Fourth ward school, kept no individual records and so will receive only one chart.

The others which will receive charts are:

WOMAN'S CLUB TO HOLD HEALTH MEETING TONIGHT

The meeting of Appleton Woman's club at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the Lawrence conservatory of Music will be under direction of the Health Department of the club. Dr. Brumbaugh of Milwaukee, one of the leading men connected with the Wisconsin Anti-tuberculosis association, will be the chief speaker.

His speech will be in line with the Health week program being conducted in the schools of the city. Dr. Brumbaugh will be here Wednesday also and will speak at several of the school meetings.

Tonight's meeting is an especially important one, definitely outlining as it will, one of the most important phases of the work of the club, the health work. Every member is expected to attend and anyone who is interested, whether a member or not, is invited to be present.

ALUMNI OF FIRST WARD SCHOOL ELECT OFFICERS

Officers were elected last night at the meeting of the Alumni association of the First ward school. Miss Dorothy Belling was elected president; Everett Johnston, vice president; Majorie Davis, secretary; and Otie Weinkauf, treasurer. These officers and the principal of the school form the executive committee of the organization, and finance, social, dramatic, athletic, and membership committees will be appointed shortly by the president. The active membership, of the association now totals twenty-eight.

URGE STUDENTS TO ATTEND MEETING

CHAPEL PERIOD AT COLLEGE IS DEVOTED TO APPEAL FOR SUCCESS OF EVANGELISM WEEK

Chapel services were conducted this morning by Dr. W. S. Naylor who outlined the program for the remaining days of the Evangelism week, and urged the students to attend the splendid meetings Dr. E. S. Helms is holding. The subject of tonight's meeting will be "God Needs Our Help in Rebuilding the World," and tomorrow's "God's Requirements in Rebuilding the World."

Francis Rosecrance, one of the students, supplemented his talk by a further appeal to the students to attend the meetings and to enter into the true spirit of the week. Dr. Helms spoke for a few minutes on the different types of students found in college as classified by an Eastern professor.

The talks being given by Dr. Helms are educational and descriptive, not emotional. He points out the errors of wrong doing with rare ability, leaving the students to decide for themselves the course to be pursued. The students who are attending the meetings are finding in them a rare inspiration and thought.

The Reo Speed-Wagon has 20% more Horse-Power than any other truck in its class. There are only two, One-Ton Trucks on the market that have higher rated power than the Speed-Wagon. Out of ninety One and One-Half-Ton Trucks only nineteen have more power than the Reo. All the other trucks, in this class, that carry less load over the rear wheels have considerably less power than the Speed-Wagon.

The Reo, International and White are the only Factory-Built Trucks and notice the difference in price and in power.

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Musterole does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Gently massage Musterole in with the finger-tips. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Use Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago pains and aches of the back or joints sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest. (it often prevents pneumonia).

Manitowoc — The last few days of rolling in the Wisconsin state pin tourney has failed to upset any of the leaders, so those who counted themselves in on the money last week are still able to bank on their standing.

The Gantter-Bedats of Kaukauna, who sprung the surprise by topping all the famous quintets who were touted to cop, still hold their lofty position with a total of 2,830 pins to their credit. They are followed only fifteen counts away by the Federal Rubbers, No. 1, of Milwaukee.

As a whole, Milwaukee quintets carried away the bacon in all the events, five from the Cream city appearing in the first ten leaders of the team event, seven in the doubles and four in the singles.

The 1,218 count of A. Nolte and O. Tabbert of Milwaukee in the doubles, stood the fire of the many pin knights who followed them and the last reckoning sees them still on top. F. Krause and W. Morgenroth, also of Milwaukee, follow close behind.

Of course, Swift of Milwaukee piled up the unreachable score in the singles. It's 737, and proof against all comers. The 666 of Kubbernuhs, Milwaukee, was the nearest approach.

Monday's bowling was fairly tame. The only two aggregations in the five man event who were counted on to do any high scoring, booted their chances away. The Reis Shoe company of Manitowoc rolled 2,343 and the Weins & Oberst of Racine, 2,531. The Recreation Bums of Manitowoc rolled 2,577.

Larson of Racine, who leads the all events, wins the special Biltwell Tire prize for the five man event. He rolled 709.

Several Appleton bowlers finished within the money. The Arcade team, which threatened to go into first place and then fizzled in the third game, probably will get its entry money back.

Several men qualified in the singles and doubles.

Appleton singles scores Saturday and Sunday follow:

E. Strutz, 562; C. Zilske, 494; W. Scherck, 477; H. Scheffelke, 364; J. Foster, 451; R. Grearson, 463; L. Stoegbauer, 456; G. Laux, 529; A. Strutz, 531; E. Koerner, 553.

Appleton men scored in the doubles as follows:

A. Helzer-E. Koerner, 983; E. Strutz-C. Zilski, 997; W. Scherck-Scheffelke, 955; L. Stoegbauer-G. Laux, 871; J. Foster-R. Grearson, 1,037.

INCREASED THRIFT URGED BY BANKERS AT ANNUAL MEETING

by two of the largest bonding houses in the country offering an immense issue to the public, explaining that their operations might be taken as an index of financial policies for the next few years. He also touched upon the matter of the marked extravagance that is rampant at present among the workmen earning high wages. The present inflation, high prices and abnormal market conditions will not always last, he asserted, and any extensive capital expenditures for improvements either on farms or manufacturing plants at a time like this would only add to the conditions of the present. Referring to the bond issue for roads, for instance, he held that the cost of such work under uncertain labor, shipping and supply conditions is excessive, and it would be better to defer it until a time when employment would not be so plentiful and costs considerably lower.

"We can't do anything more worth while now," he urged, "than to inaugurate a campaign of thrift in this county. Encourage the people to save now while their wages are higher than ever before." He also urged the most conservative judgment in making investments, suggesting care in the selection of securities.

Ex-Senator H. M. Culbertson of Medina was called upon to suggest ways in which the association could be of service to the farmer. He urged the banks to assist the man who, by draining off land that is not tillable now, could make it pay handsomely within a few years, and who is usually handicapped by not having the small funds necessary to accomplish it. A social worker employed by the banks to keep in close touch with the farmers and study their problems was also recommended. Speaking of the Hortonville fair, he urged the need of stimulating interest among the young people in contributing to the competitive exhibits. As a means of starting this activity, he suggested that the banks provide a prize fund for the next fair as an inducement. This matter was referred to a committee of four who will report at the next meeting.

Steps were also taken to organize a chapter of the Institute of Banking among the clerks in Appleton, and J. J. Monaghan, retiring secretary of the association, was instructed to confer with each bank regarding its establishment. It was also voted to hold the meeting here in the middle of May, and invite the Brown county bankers to be the guests. F. N. Torrey of Hortonville, retiring president, acted as chairman of the meeting. Following each address; there was considerable discussion and many matters concerning the welfare of the institutions were taken up.

PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT.

The so-called "Whisky Riots" in the upper peninsula of Michigan recall similar resorts to force and law violations to resist constitutional amendments and enactments of congress in the past. We had more or less of this rioting in our early history but it uniformly collapsed. It will be so in Michigan or in any other part of the country where enforcement of the prohibition amendment is antagonized. We do not know whether the state authorities or the federal officers who appear to be in conflict in Iron county are right. In all probability the federal agents have the law with them and that is what counts. It is to be presumed that there have been violations of the enforcement act and it is common information that there is more or less illegal liquor traffic in that part of the country. Probably Iron county is no different from any other locality in the United States. Evasions and violations of the law are being practiced, but gradually they will be unearthed and those engaged in them will come to grief.

There is but one course for the American people to pursue in reference to prohibition and that is to obey it as it is interpreted by congress and by the supreme court. All attempts to overthrow prohibition or to avoid its restrictions must react in its favor as well as in greater determination by the people and the government to enforce it. Incidents like that which has attracted attention in the upper peninsula of Michigan are foolish and futile. No part of this country can be a law to itself with respect to intoxicating liquors while the prohibition amendment is a part of our constitution. We are going to have a dry country in fact as well as name and the sooner those who are of a different opinion resign themselves to this certainty, the better it will be for all concerned.

NOT A CAMPAIGN ISSUE.

It is a fact which ought to carry weight to the leaders of both parties and their spokesmen in the senate that the only proposal for making a campaign issue of the league of nations has come from politicians of congress and the president. Nowhere in the country have we had a single indorsement of this plan, nowhere a single expression of approval. We know of no organization of any kind which has adopted resolutions supporting it. We know of no demand whatsoever on the part of the public, or by men of affairs, for a decision of this great question in the presidential election. On the contrary public opinion is overwhelmingly against the suggestion. We believe it is almost unanimously opposed to it.

The submission of the treaty and league of nations to what would be an obviously false referendum would constitute one of the most humiliating chapters in American history. It would be, to use the words of Herbert Hoover, substituting the judgment "of police court minds" for the intelligence and experience of trained statesmen. It would be substituting auctioneer methods for the processes of the constitution made and provided for the negotiation of treaties and the direction of our foreign affairs. It would be a confession that these constitutional agencies had broken down and had ceased to function.

Nobody but the politicians who want to make use of an issue for party advantage believes that a presidential election could in any manner demonstrate the true attitude of the people toward the league of nations and the peace terms. We would have no more accurate understanding of public opinion on this question than we had before. So far as conveying the slightest intelligence concerning reservations the results would be hopelessly negative.

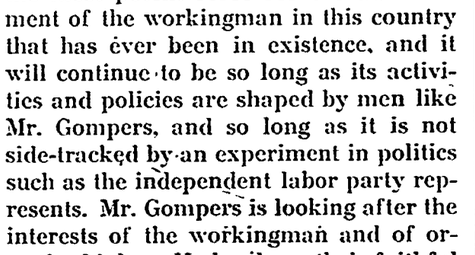
There is only one right way to dispose of the treaty and league, and that is by action of the United States senate. The ratification of treaties is not a matter within the province of the people and never can be made so. Furthermore, the senate has no power to negotiate treaties. It has no power in this instance to negotiate a peace treaty or league of nations covenant essentially different from that agreed to at Versailles, and signed and submitted to it by the president. The negotiation of the treaty belongs exclusively to the president. The sole function of the senate is to ratify. It is possible, if politics is eliminated, for two-thirds of the members of the senate to agree upon interpretative resolutions which will be acceptable to the other treaty signatories. The senate will be guilty of the most flagrant abuse of public trust if it does not discharge this duty.

MR. GOMPERS AND A LABOR PARTY.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, has taken an uncompromising stand against the movement to organize an independent labor party. Mr. Gompers has always been a sound and constructive leader of organized labor, and in this attitude he does not deviate from his record of service. There have been many efforts to divert labor into the maelstrom of politics. We have had labor parties formed, and we have had attempts to commit labor organizations to partisan activities, but considered in a national sense not one of these movements has been successful. On the contrary, it has been proven in every instance that they were subversive of the real interests of labor.

It is true, as Mr. Gompers says, that an independent labor party is foredoomed to failure. With possibly some very rare exceptions it could not hope to control congressional elections. It would have no chance in senatorships and so far as the presidency is concerned it would constitute a small minority. We do not believe it would figure even conspicuously in state elections. By this we do not mean to discount the importance of organized labor in itself, nor its numerical strength. But the truth is, as everybody knows, that even a labor party would not begin to hold all of the labor vote. Although prohibition has triumphed it did not do so through the prohibition party. That party was never a formidable factor in American politics. There were millions who believed in prohibition that never cast a vote for the party or its candidates. While the analogy is not complete it nevertheless applies in a considerable sense to a labor party. The two great parties would continue to absorb a heavy percentage of the working vote.

The American Federation of Labor is the most potent force for the advancement of the workingman in this country that has ever been in existence, and it will continue to be so long as its activities and policies are shaped by men like Mr. Gompers, and so long as it is not side-tracked by an experiment in politics such as the independent labor party represents. Mr. Gompers is looking after the interests of the workingman and of organized labor. He has been their faithful champion and their reliable mentor. He possesses the confidence of the American people to a degree enjoyed by no other labor leader, except possibly the late John Mitchell. His advice is that support of an independent labor party in the presidential and congressional elections would serve to "defeat our friends and to elect our enemies." In this we believe he is unquestionably right. Organized labor can do far more in the promotion of its interests by supporting candidates within the Republican and Democratic parties most favorably inclined to their cause and to industrial justice than by endeavoring to control elections through a separate party. Moreover, in this course it avoids the perils of politics, which there is hardly any doubt would sooner or later develop dissension within its own ranks and react to its detriment both internally and with the public.



MOTHER LOVE

One day, when mother was away,
She left a lunch for me;
The fresh-laid cloth was white as froth
Upon a silver sea.
A vase of flowers was at my place,
And under every dish
A note was laid whose words conveyed
A tender mother-wish.
The air, although she was not there,
Still seemed to hold her smile;
A faint perfume was in the room,
As though she passed the while.
Today, they say she is away
And never may come back,
Yet shall I gloom her sunny room
And pall my mind in black?
Has she not left her words to me
On every table spread?
Does not her love still rest above
And bless my daily bread?
The bloom of every flower's perfume
Brings back her constant smile,
And on my brow, aye, even now,
Her soft lips touch the while!

Confessions of a Bride

(Copyright, 1920, by The Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

We Take to the Motor Boat to Seek the Shore Of My Vision

"I am quite at your service, Mrs. Lorimer," said Dr. Travers politely, but without much enthusiasm as he helped me overside. We rowed noiselessly away from the "lone." Nobody heard us—nobody saw us. When we were at a safe distance from the yacht Travers set the engine going.

It was absurd, of course, that I, Jane Lorimer, a nice civilized bride, should find myself sitting in a power-boat with a handsome cavalier, at midnight, off the coast of Mexico!

"Oh la! la!" I was saying to myself just as Travers turned from the engine and asked:

"Where to, Mrs. Lorimer?"

"I—I don't know," I stammered, "but I think you do. I fancy you know this coast pretty well?"

"Fairly. I've lived in the town two years."

"Where is there a bit of shore like this?" I described the spot I had seen in my haunting vision. Put into words, my description might have fitted a million strips of ocean beach.

But Travers had an imagination. Moreover he was trying to humor my absurd whim. And have it over with, perhaps.

"There's something like that—north of the town. Quite a little run from here, Mrs. Lorimer."

"Can we make it—there and back—before the yacht sails at dawn?"

"Easily—if we have the gas." Travers turned a flashlight on the gas gauge. "But what do you want to go to that deserted spot for at this time of the night? It isn't humanly possible for me not to ask that question, you know," he concluded as he headed the boat for the shore.

I told him about the haunting vision and of how Daddy Lorimer had scoffed at me for harboring it.

"Well, I don't like the stunt myself. Mrs. Lorimer. But I will obey your orders—as long as the gas lasts." He gave a second glance at the gauge.

"You can rely on the reserve," I asserted. "I'd like to see a Lorimer craft without its proper equipment. Especially a boat under Captain Twombley's command."

"The skipper is a tyrant—rather," drawled Travers. "That's why I suggested he might sail before the dawn, if he took a notion to. But of course he wouldn't sail without you on board, Mrs. Lorimer.

"Goodness gracious!" was my comment. "They will not investigate! They will think that you and I are asleep!"

"We should worry," came back the comforting suggestion. "They'll miss this boat—and they will wait until the culprit comes back with it."

"So we're safe! And this stunt is not risky! And isn't it a wonderful night—with the sea so smooth—"

"And the stars so bright—"

"I never saw them so bright," I echoed. "It's all turning out right. Maybe we will not make this trip for nothing."

Travers did not reply. He didn't seem to feel as optimistic as I did.

We had been racing toward the shore at a great speed. The Lorimer boats are the finest that money can buy. We could no longer distinguish the yacht in the distance. We didn't come upon any spot which corresponded at all to my vision.

We two seemed alone together in the world—a vast and silent world. And Travers seemed to have lost all interest in conversation. I hoped he wasn't getting a little exasperated with the proceeding.

We moved slowly parallel to the curves of the land. It would be hard for us to distinguish human beings on the sands—if there happened to be any in that unfortunate state.

Thinking so, an idea came to me.

"We must fix a signal light," I cried. "These lanterns will do—a red and a white set above a blue one at the prow. Any imaginative person ought to get that correctly."

We made the blue light by tying my sash about a white lantern.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM

To the Editor of the Appleton Post-Crescent—Can you remember what a dirty mud hole the premises about the Chicago and Northwestern depot was some years ago?

Do you remember the ruts, the rubbish, the old papers and especially the mud? And do you remember how the C. & N. W. people got busy and paved the driveways, how they brought carloads of good soil, how they sowed grass seed and kept it watered—how they dug out Canada thistles—how they planned beautiful flowering shrubs—and what an oasis the little spot has been made!

There are many who do not forget these things—and yet—the caretaker has had to place signs—"Please Keep Off the Grass" here and there upon this little lawn—because people who do not appreciate beauty—walk across it!

The writer has heard many expressions of praise from passengers as they came off the trains—many have said that this is the prettiest little depot ground on the C. & N. W. for many a weary mile!

Why cannot the people of Appleton take sufficient pride in the few public parkways they have to keep them free from unsightly paths or shortcuts?

THE INDEPENDENT WEST

The west is on the point of declaring its political independence of the east. The wisdom of 1920 is based on the experience of 1916.

The Republican most discussed for the presidency is Leonard Wood, the candidate of the west. The Democrat most talked of for the office in recent weeks is Herbert Hoover—from the west.

Down to 1916 New York's vote in the electoral college was everywhere considered essential to success in November. Unless a candidate appealed to the Empire State he could not be elected. New York stood for the east. What New York thought, speaking broadly, the whole east thought.

The election of four years ago exploded the theory of New York's omnipotence. Mr. Wilson was re-elected over the protest of New York and Pennsylvania—the two most powerful states in the electoral college. In addition, the President lost Illinois, third strongest state in the college, as well as New England, except New Hampshire, and the entire east.

It is a good sign, this growing political independence of the west. It will encourage more careful work in the conventions. It will tend to remove sectionalism from party deliberations and put emphasis upon the importance of nominating for the nation's highest office men whom the whole country, west and east, will approve. The people welcome the end of New York's dictation in national policies.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Ye Olde Warm Air Furnace.

As we grow ever softer and more effeminate softening luxuries hold for us a stronger appeal. Statistics of morbidity and mortality rates in ye olden times are rather sketchy, and the recollection of grandpa about such matters is notoriously romantic, yet there is no reason to believe that respiratory troubles were more common, if they were as common, in 1820 than they are in 1920.

A dwelling heated, with an ordinary wood or coal stove is as hygienically heated as an apartment equipped with a hot water or steam radiator. The principle of the heating is the same in either case. The stove has one important advantage over the radiator; it must be connected with a flue and the draft produces some ventilation of the room if the room is not hermitically sealed.

Steam or hot water radiators, unfortunately, do warm the air of apartments even if ventilation is inadequate. Hot air furnaces do not work satisfactorily unless ventilation is fairly efficient.

The air inlet of the hot air furnace should be from the outside, never from the cellar or, worse still, from a room of the house. The largest possible volume of outside air should be admitted through the air inlet, consistent with comfort. An air outlet should be provided near the roof. A hot air furnace register which belches forth a scorching blast is wholly unhygenic; it means that insufficient cold air is being admitted through the air inlet.

The registers should give forth warm air, not hot air. The temperature of the room thus warmed should be temperate, not torrid. From 60 to 67 degrees Fahrenheit may be considered a hygienic temperature in a furnace heated apartment; a higher temperature than that is depressing and unwholesome. Elderly and enfeebled individuals imagine they need more heat; they do, but not from the atmosphere they breathe. Their body warmth should be maintained by additional clothing, though it is well to remember that the less clothing one wears at any time, consistent with physical comfort, the better for health.

The hot air furnace does dry out the air, but not more than the radiator does. If the apartment is constantly overheated, it is practically impossible to maintain anything like normal humidity in the air by any apparatus available for the private dwelling. But if the temperature is kept below 68 degrees F. a fair approach to proper moisture in the air may be maintained if the water pots of the furnace are large and well filled. It requires something like 75 gallons of water daily, evaporated in the air, to maintain fair humidity in an artificially heated dwelling of average size in cold winter weather. The evaporation of a few gallons of water daily would therefore make little impression on atmospheric aridity.

As a matter of economy, efficiency and hygiene, let the householder rest assured that the hot air furnace is thoroughly correct. Hot water or steam heating may be necessary for large buildings or rambling dwellings which cannot be economically warmed with the hot air furnace.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Gasoline Fumes.

Do you think that inhaling the evaporation or vapor of gasoline causes throat irritation? (C. E. H.)

ANSWER—Yes, many workers in industries where they are much exposed to gasoline vapor (not the gases formed in the combustion of gasoline) suffer from throat irritation and bronchitis causing cough.

An Antique Theory.

Do you think ———'s Lithia tablets have any curative effect that will relieve slight attacks of rheumatism or kidney trouble? (F. G. H.)

ANSWER—No.

Pass the Pork.

Kindly inform me whether eating pork is dangerous to the health (Miss D. M.)

ANSWER—Pork properly cooked — I mean thoroughly cooked—is a wholesome and very nutritious food. The only real objection to pork in the diet is the risk of tapeworm infection from measly meat, but thorough cooking prevents that, even though the meat be measly. By "measly meat" is meant flesh in which the larval form of tapeworm is present.

When Scarlet Fever Is Contagious.

When is scarlet fever most contagious, when it is just developing, or when the patient is getting over it? (Miss M. D.)

ANSWER — When it is developing. Measles and scarlet fever are both most catching in the stage just before the rash appears. Another good reason for promptly isolating every individual who is developing an alleged "cold."

SHARP RALLY TODAY IN GRAIN FUTURES

PRESENCE OF EASTERN BUYERS ON CHICAGO MARKET CAUSED PRICES TO RISE

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago—Presence of eastern shippers in the cash markets here today caused a sharp rally shortly before noon in futures prices on the Chicago board of trade. Low receipts and lower hog - prices caused an earlier slump.

Feb. corn, opening at $1.39, off ¼, gained 2½ in the noon rally. March corn opened late at $1.40½ and remained steady. May corn was ⅝ down on opening at $1.30½ but advanced 1½ thereafter. July corn opened at $1.27¾ unchanged, later gaining 1¼.

May oats after opening ⅝ off at 77⅜ gained 1⅝. July oats was one cent down on opening at 70 but thereafter advanced 1⅝.

RAILROAD SECURITIES GAIN STRENGTH FROM THE START —SELL OFF IN LATE TRADING

By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—The stock market opened generally lower today. There were sharp breaks in some of the leading industries but railroad securities continued to gain strength. Central Leather responded further to its recent favorable statement of earnings and was up 2⅜ to 83⅜.

Crucible opened at 202, off 2; St. Louis and San Francisco 24½, up ⅝; Studebaker 87¾, off ¾; Republic 100¼, off 1⅝; Baldwin 110¼, off 2¼; New Haven 35; Mexican Petroleum 179, off ½; Reading 76¾, up ¾; United States Steel 98⅝, off ¾; Sinclair 40⅝, up ⅛; General Motors 245, off 5¼; Marine pfd. 84¾, up ½; New York Central 73⅜, up 1⅛; Southern Pacific 98, up ¼; American Woolen 130, off 2; Chandler 126¾, off 1.

The unfavorable showing of the federal reserve bank statement Saturday and the drop of 5¼ cents in sterling were responsible for the decline in industries.

The whole list sold off rather sharply in early trading. There was a considerable amount of liquidation from out of town but the best information was that most of the selling was for short account.

Oils and steels were hardest hit.

Low priced rails made new highs on the move, apparently on the assumption President Wilson would sign the railroad bill promptly.

General Motors got down to 240½ off about 14 points from the high of Friday. Reports from the middle west continue to tell of great difficulty in obtaining freight cars to carry away automobiles from factories.

WANTS HIS MONEY BACK

"I can thank Mr. O'Brien, a neighfor, for my recovery from severe colic attacks and stomach trouble that nearly forced me to cross the river Jordan. I spent thousands of dollars in the past nine years for doctors and medicine and would have died but for my neighbor's advice to use Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. I wish I had the money back I spent for other medicine." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.—For Sale by all Druggists. adv.

Rotary Has Grown To Immense Organization From Small Start

More than six hundred Rotary clubs in the United States and Canada and thruout the world are observing this week with special programs. The occasion is the fifteenth anniversary of the birth of Rotary and the founding of the first Rotary club in Chicago on February 23, 1905. The week has been designated by the local Rotary club as "All Rotary Week", and is being given over entirely to Rotary activities.

The program of last night's meeting was devoted largely to a review of the origin of the Rotary movement, and its growth during the past fifteen years. An outline of the policy and program of work of the International Association of Rotary Clubs, the directing body of Rotary, especially as this work relates to the further organizing of Rotary clubs in foreign and domestic countries, also comprised a part of the club program.

The story of how Rotary originated, and how the institution has grown during the last few years until it is extending to all of the civilized countries of the world, is intensely interesting, especially as reviewed by the speakers on the program.

The True Origin of Rotary

Rotary came into "being" with a group of four men seated around a luncheon table in a Chicago hotel. The four men were business acquaintances and for several weeks had been meeting together for luncheon. These informal meetings were held at the different members' places of business. As it happened, each one of the four represented a different calling—one a coal dealer, one a mining operator, one a merchant tailor, and the fourth an attorney.

The attorney was the one who first advanced the idea of forming a club. His name is Paul P. Harris and to him is given credit for starting the great Rotary movement. The meeting of the four at which it was actually decided to organize a club was held February 23, 1905.

A printer has at some time or other played the central figure in nearly every great movement in history, and Rotary proved no exception to the rule. It was soon after this meeting when another friend of the group—a printer—joined the number and afterward became largely responsible for safely guiding the new organization during its early period of existence.

There are many different ideas in circulation as to the origin of the name "Rotary" as applied to the Rotary clubs. One example will serve to illustrate the character of the many different conceptions. Two teamsters once noticed a string of autos decorated with Rotary banners. One auto became stalled and one of the teamsters, examining the Rotary emblem on the wheel, was overheard to carefully explain to the other that the Rotarians were wagonmakers and their emblem was the wagon wheel and the name "Rotary" chosen because a wagon wheel has a rotary motion. However, the true facts are that "Rotary" was chosen because the members of the new club had been in the habit of having their meetings in "rotation" at the places of business of the different members. As "Rotation Club" was somewhat inapt they decided to adopt the shorter form and call it the "Rotary Club." Incidentally, this meeting from place to place was continued for some time until the membership became so large as to make the plan impractical. But this custom, altho of short duration, was responsible for one of the features that is observed today in many Rotary clubs. This is the "business talks" that are often given by members relative to successful methods that have been adopted in their businesses and how the Rotary idea of service has been applied to their work.

How Unique Plan of Membership Originated

As other members were admitted to the new club, the principle was still adhered to of having only one representative from each business or profession. This would be a unique plan and would distinguish the club from other organizations. Then also such a plan would serve to sustain interest in the club, promote attendance, and make a member place a high valuation upon his membership. Time has proved it to be a plan adaptable to the smaller cities as well as to the larger ones.

Later years proved that there were many other advantages to such a plan. A membership made up of one representative from each business or profession is truly representative of the community. Such a body of men becomes an ideal forum for the discussion of public questions and the consideration of matters of concern both to the public and to the trades and the professions. United action by the club is much easier than with a large and cumbersome membership of several hundred or several thousand. It is impossible for any one profession or allied professions to become numerically strong enough to dominate the policy of the club. The business man is benefited for such association tends to lift him out of the rut of his own business routine giving him a broader and more sympathetic understanding of other businesses and professions.

But most important of all, it has increased the efficiency of the club itself by giving the officials a lever for the removal of any "dead timber" from the membership. The club can insist upon regular attendance and active participation or the surrender of membership to someone else in the same line of business. That this rule is rigidly observed is one of the reasons why membership in Rotary is considered at so high a premium.

Fifteen Years Has Seen Marvelous Growth

The new club started out by holding a luncheon once each week and an evening meeting every month. In a short time there were nearly half a hundred members and a considerable number of others who had become interested and had asked to become members. Men in other cities had heard of this new club called "Rotary" and had written to the Chicago club asking if they couldn't organize in their cities. It was decided, tho, that it would be best to wait until time had proven the experiment successful before giving encouragement to the organization of clubs in other cities. The Chicago club continued to increase in membership. In 1908—three years after the first meeting—the second Rotary club was organized in San Francisco. Other clubs followed on the Pacific Coast and then the movement spread to the East and then to the South until sixteen clubs had been organized by the end of 1910. These clubs were all the result of seed more or less accidentally sown by members who were enthused by the Rotary idea—and who gave of their time and money without thought of personal gain.

It was in 1910 that the first convention was held and the "National Association" formed. This first convention was held in Chicago, and general officers elected, and a constitution adopted. Paul P. Harris was honored by election to the first presidency of the newly created association, and Chesley R. Perry, who was secretary of the Chicago club and who, with Paul Harris, was responsible to a large extent for calling together this first delegate body of Rotary, was elected secretary. This office he has always held and continues to hold at the present time. Paul Harris has since been honored by the conferring upon him of the title of President Emeritus.

The second convention was held at Portland, Oregon, in 1911, and the third convention at Duluth, Minnesota, in 1912. Previous to the Duluth convention a club had been organized at Winnipeg, Canada, and at the convention a cable was received from the Rotary Club of London, England, asking for a charter. To make provision for these clubs, the convention took action, changing the organization from a "National" to an "International Association." By this time there were forty clubs in existence.

The rapid growth in number of clubs continued. From every nook and corner of the United States and Canada came requests from business men who had heard of this new leaven for the community welfare and who wanted to establish clubs in their cities. By 1916, the number of clubs had increased to more than 250, with approximately 27,000 members. Two or three more clubs had been organized in England and several more in Canada. Business men in Cuba and in South America had also become inoculated with the Rotary idea and were seeking to orgnize clubs.

During the four years from 1916 to the present time nearly four hundred more clubs have been organized making a total of more than six hundred Rotary clubs in the world today. While the greater number, by far, are in the United States, where the movement originated, there are Rotary clubs in the principal cities of Canada and in the principal cities of Great Britain and Ireland, and in the larger cities of Cuba. Rotary has also been established in the countries of Argentine and Uruguay in South America, in the Republic of Panama, and in China. Since 1915 there has been a Rotary club in Honolulu and early in 1919 a club was organized in the Philippine Islands at Manila. The Calcutta Club, in India, is the latest to be organized in foreign lands. The next few years will see hundreds of clubs established in Europe (the Rotary Club of Paris is now being instituted), in South America, Australia, Asia and Africa, and in hundreds of the smaller cities of the North American continent.

This remarkable growth has been spontaneous. Never, at any time, has the organization employed paid organizers. On the other hand, extreme care has always been exercised in surveying cities and towns applying for membership to make sure that such communities were ready for a Rotary club and were of sufficient size from which to secure a membership of representative men and still have the membership restricted to one man from each business or profession.

The Rotary Creed is Service

The Rotary creed is fully set forth in the "Rotary Platforms" and in the "Rotary Code of Ethics." The Rotary Platform was adopted by the organization in 1911 and is a concise statement of the principles and ethics guiding and actuating all Rotary clubs. "The Rotary club demands fair dealings, honest methods, and high standards in business", is the theme of this platform, and the last sentence in the platform, "He profits most who serves best", has been adopted as the latter part of the official slogan of Rotary. The complete slogan reads: "Service Above Self—He Profits Most Who Serves Best."

The "Rotary Code of Ethics" was adopted by the organization in 1915, and sets forth the principles and practices that should exist not only between Rotarians but all business and professional men everywhere. To read this Code of Ethics which the Rotarians have adopted as their ideal, is to realize one of the reasons why this relatively new movement has gone forward by leaps and bounds during the past five years. Men had been waiting for this very thing. It became a "living force" in the lives of many men who had been obsessed with the one idea of making money, transforming them into men who chose for their motto "he profits most who serves best" instead of the old standard of "he profits most who accumulates most in material things." To these men, life became an investment, not measured in terms of dollars, but measured in terms of the faithful discharge of man's highest duties to society. The governor of one of the greatest states in the United States has said that "Rotary is able to catch the heart-beat—the harmony of life—and put it into action."

Every Member an Active Member

The Rotary club has one rule which must not be violated. This is the rule in regard to attendance. Practically every club has a clause in its Constitution whereby a member is automatically dropped from membership if he misses four meetings in succession. To this rule is attributed one of the reasons for the remarkable efficiency of Rotary. A careful record of each member's attendance is kept by the secretary and nothing short of sickness or death can excuse a member. Absence from the city is no excuse, for there is a special rule whereby a member may attend the meeting of the club in the city where he happens to be, and the secretary of his home club is officially advised of this fact, and he receives credit for attendance just as if he had been present at the meeting of his own club.

Rotary clubs thus hold an enviable record for high percentage of attendance at meetings. Clubs with as many as two and three hundred members have as high as 80 per cent of their members present meeting after meeting. There are Rotary districts with jurisdiction over as many as forty and fifty clubs which maintain a "district percentage of attendance" at meetings of all clubs in the district of from 70 to 80 per cent. New records for high attendance percentages are continually being made and as quickly being broken by some club somewhere. The latest achievement has been by a club on the Pacific Coast with sixty members which has made the remarkable and heretofore unheard of record of a 100 per cent attendance, or every member present, not only at one meeting—which would be an unusual record in itself—but a 100 per cent attendance at seven consecutive meetings.

A Definition of the Rotary Club

Various definitions of Rotary and descriptions of the Rotary Club have been published from time to time. A contest has recently been held, thruout the Rotary clubs for the best definition of "What is Rotary?" and every member asked to give his definition. Contests will also be held at the conferences of the Rotary districts in which the different Rotary clubs will participate.

One of the definitions of the Rotary Club, as given at the "Anniversary Meeting" of the club this week, was as follows:

"Rotary is more than a name. It is a spirit and a life. A Rotary Club is more than an organization. It is associated vision and effort; it is cooperative, not competitive, service. It transmutes kindly desires into helpful deeds, and turns dreams into accomplished facts. It is a training school in unselfishness, where personal gain is subordinate to public good. Rotary values men for what they are, more than for what they have; and for what they can be, more than for what they are. Rotary welcomes a vision of need, and views service as a privilege to be sought, not as a burden to be avoided.

"Rotary never side-steps a responsibility or 'passes the buck' to the other fellow. To the Rotarian, life is an investment that must yield dividends that are better than dollars, and that are not measured in terms of commerce. To be Rotarian, community prosperity is more than personal profit. He never 'knocks' a good thing, nor praises a bad thing. His city is the best in the country, and his country the best in the world. He is an all-wool, yard-wide American or Canadian, or whatever his nationality. He works hard, plays square, and gives with a smile. He has an eye for a neighbor's need, a hand trained to help, a foot used to paths of helpfulness and mercy and a heart for true men, good women, and little children.

"Rotary may not be a religion, but it has woven into the fabric of its helpful activity, that, without which even religion is but 'as sounding brass and a tinkling symbol'—'Faith, Hope and Love'."

"NICE PIECE OF CHANGE" FOR HELPING NEWBERRY

Offer is Made to Michigan Man During Campaign, Testimony at Trial Today Shows

By United Press Leased Wire

Grand Rapids, Mich.—Political activities at Flint, Mich., were brought into the spotlight again today at the Newberry election fraud trial here.

Jesse H. Prescott testified regarding a conversation he had with Richard Fletcher, Michigan state labor commissioner at the home of Fred Henry previous to the primary election. Both Fletcher and Henry are defendants.

"Fletcher asked me how William H. McKeighan stood in referenece to Newberry," Prescott said.

"I told him McKeighan was against Newberry."

Fletcher replied he 'would see to McKeighan.'

The prosecutor offered this testamony to corroborate the statements by McKeighan that he was threatened with a jail sentence if he did not support Newberry.

Prescott also testified Fred Henry told him there would be a "nice piece of change" in it for him if he would help Newberry.

"I told him I was not for Newberry," Prescott said.

COUNTRY RESIDENTS SEND OWN VEHICLES AFTER DOCTORS

Farmers in need of the services of physicians are now making a practice of driving to town after them, a custom abandoned since pioneer days. The physicians no longer have horses and cannot always get them at livery stables when making country calls. At least one liveryman intends to dispose of his horses before another winter, claiming that the money they earn during the few weeks that the roads are blockaded does not begin to pay for their feed during the remainder of the year.

COLLECT AT THEATRES FOR ARMENIAN RELIEF

WOMEN'S CLUBS WILL CONTINUE EFFORTS TO RAISE OUTAGAMIE COUNTY'S FULL QUOTA

In their desire to send Appleton "over the top" in the Near East Relief drive, the women's clubs will continue their activities all this week.

They have discontinued the booths at the banks and stores, but from now on they will station a representative at each theatre during the afternoon and evening. The lady on duty will have a bag into which contributions can be dropped. Quite large sums of money have been raised in this way in other cities, and the plan as tried out here Saturday night proved to be one of merit. Those who have not made any contribution or who wish to divert some their change to helping Appleton make good will have this opportunity to contribute.

The women's committee has been busy today working up a corps of volunteers for the new drive, and will have them in place possibly every day this week.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF SORORITY AT NEENAH

NINE PLEDGES ARE INITIATED SATURDAY AFTERNOON—ANNOUNCE FOUR ENGAGEMENTS

The annual banquet of Kappa Alpha Theta was held Saturday night at the Valley Inn, Neenah. A large number of out of town alumnae attended the feast and also the initiation of pledges which was held Saturday afternoon at the home of Miss Anne Hawes, College avenue.

Those who were initiated were the Misses Margaret Nicholson, Dorothy Hackworthy, and Matilda Harriman, Appleton; Marie Puchner, Wittenberg; Mable Cleven, Stoughton; Mavrine Barnes, Pushnell, Ill.; Gertrude Erbe, Green Bay, Mildred Socha, Racine, and Julia Ryberg, Aurora.

Engagements of four members of the sorority, three previously announced, were announced at the banquet. The one, of which no word was received here before, is that of Miss Bessie Fisk of Green Bay to Dr. Thomas Lake of Oshkosh, now practicing in Fairbanks, Alaska.

The alumnae present were the Misses Barbara Thom, Neenah; Florence Wheeler and Helen Larabee, Chippewa Falls; Bessie Fisk, Green Bay; Ruth Findeisen, Green Bay; Helen Risdon, DePere; Marie Paff, Wausau, Ethelyne Lindley and Gertrude Detgen, Chicago; Abigail Classon, Oconto; and Mrs. J. Robert Caumbe and Mrs. Seymour Heyman, Oshkosh. Miss Genevieve Forbes of Chicago, district president, was also present.

VETERANS MAY RE-INSTATE WAR RISKS UNTIL JULY 1

The United States Treasury department has issued a new statement relative to government insurance, based on the liberal provisions of the recent law passed by congress in favor of ex-service men, according to information received by the Home Service section of the Red Cross here. This provides that ex-service men who have allowed their government life insurance to lapse may reinstate any time before July 1, 1920 providing the man is in as good health as at time of last payment. The last date for re-application was given out as December 31, 1919, but the new ruling permits men who have been out of service more than 18 months and those whose payments have lapsed for over eleven months to renew their insurance.

Full particulars as to the procedure necessary will be given out at the Home Service office here on application.

DOCTORS DISCUSS NEW CURES FOR INFLUENZA

By United Press Leased Wire

Chicago.—New scientific methods of combating the "flu" and other germ fed diseases were presented at the fourth annual meeting of the American college of physicians in session here today.

After the most effective methods have been agreed upon through experimentations, they will be placed before the public.

Other theories covering the entire field of the medical practice with the exception of surgery will be discussed at the conference.

More than 500 of the leading physicians of the United States and Canada were in attendance.

Most remarkable of all, Snell has a 5-year-old son, by his second wife. He is still active and teaches his son, Albert, shown in the picture on his daddy's lap, how to shoot. Snell cannot read or write and he has never seen a movie. He is five feet five inches tall and weighs 103 pounds. "Hard work is the best way to keep well," he says.

GOTHAM TELEPHONE GIRLS NOW MEMBERS OF UNION

Several Walkouts Staged Last Week Because Salary Increases Were Not Satisfactory

By United Press Leased Wire

New York—Under the leadership of Miss Theresa Sullivan, vice president of the telephone operators' union of Boston, operators in New York city are organizing to affiliate with the A. F. of L. The Boston union has placed 50 workers in the field here to organize the New York operators, according to Miss Sullivan, who says the New York telephone girls requested assistance from the Boston union.

Already, Miss Sullivan said, the company officials have agreed to wage adjustment which will give beginners $15 and experienced operators $23 a week. Half a dozen walkouts were staged last week by the experienced girls who objected to beginners receiving a pay increase of $3 a week, when they say, they were at that time, given only $1 increase.

ACTRESS WIFE CONFIDENT THAT HUSBAND IS INNOCENT

By United Press Leased Wire

New York—Jules W. Arnstein, wanted in connection with theft of $5,000,000 worth of bonds from Wall street brokers, was still sought by the police today. He had been missing from his home here since Feb. 12.

Arnstein's wife, Fannie Brice, appearing in Ziegfeld's Midnight Frolic today declared her belief in her husband's innocence and asserted the charges against him were either a mistake or he was the victim of a "frame up." They have been married two years and have a baby six months old.

The police allege that Arnstein was the "master mind" directing the bond robberies through messenger boys.

NEW YORK IS NOW THE LARGEST CITY IN WORLD

By United Press Leased Wire

New York. — Estimates on New York's census returns for 1920 give the city more than 7,000,000 inhabitants, according to census figures.

The population of the metropolitan district, which includes suburbs, not actually belonging to the city, is said to exceed 8,500,000.

These areas would make New York indisputably the biggest city in the world, London coming second with about one million less both for the city and the London metropolitan area.

GERMAN WAR HEADS MAY ESCAPE TRIAL

By United Press Leased Wire

London.—Trials of Field Marshal von Hindenburg and General Ludendorff on the Allied charge of destruction of villages in France and Belgium is improbable, Eugene Schiffer, German minister of justice, was quoted as saying in an interview in Berlin, cabled to The Daily Mail today.

Destruction of the villages, Schiffer was quoted as saying, was under military necessity and hence cannot merit punishment.

Schiffer will have charge of the trials of the war guilty at Leipzig.

O'KEEFE ROLLS HIGHEST SCORE ON ELK ALLEYS

Dr. W. E. O'Keefe set a new season's record on the Elk bowling alleys Saturday evening when he counted 254 in a league game between the Giants and Sox of Elk League.

O'Keefe is a member of the Sox team which is leading the league. Its record is victory in 30 out of 35 games. Other members of the squad are Fred Woelz, Dr. A. E. Rector, Stephen Balliet, John Balliet and Dr. R. R. Lally.

Assistant Secretary of Navy Roosevelt says the United States must have a navy equal to that of any other power, and that would cost $1,000,000,000 a year to maintain it.

ASK $3,000,000 TO SAVE BILLION IN INCOME TAXES

INTERNAL REVENUE COMMISSIONER NEEDS A LOT OF HELP TO CATCH INCOME TAX DODGERS

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington. — An appropriation to finance a $1,000,000,000 drive on tax dodgers has been asked of congress by Internal Revenue Commissioner Roper, it was learned today. This amount, Roper informed the house appropriations committee can be brought into the treasury if congress will allow sufficient funds for a thorough audit of all tax returns.

Audits of the 1916 and part of the 1917 returns have netted $200,000,000 but the internal revenue bureau is so far behind on its work that a large additional force of auditors is needed to bring more money due the government into the treasury at this time, Roper said. For this purpose he asked for an appropriation of $3,000,000 to employ 750 auditors and 600 auxiliary clerks to go over faulty returns.

A preliminary investigation also has shown that the government has been paid money on income and other taxes to which it is not entitled and it is estimated that the refunds during this year will total $12,000,000.

As to the taxes which the government hopes to recover, Roper said:

"We find upon examination that two thirds of these unassessed taxes lie in a group of about 15,000 returns. There are the socalled consolidated returns—that is, returns of corporations of all kinds which have many subsidiary companies, probably running from five to twenty subsidiary companies per return. These 15,000 consolidated returns probably represent 100,000 individual company returns. An audit of 302,938 cases has netted the government $125,000,000."

D'ANNUNZIO BARS FIUME SETTLEMENT

WITHDRAWAL OF ITALIAN FIREBRAND WOULD BRING ABOUT QUICK AGREEMENT, IT IS BELIEVED

By United Press Leased Wire

Washington—President Wilson's reply to the latest Allied note on the Adriatic settlement may be ready for transmission on the cables by tonight officials at the white house said today.

A complete draft of the communication will be sent to the president for his approval by Acting Secretary of State Polk today.

It was believed in official circles in Washington that withdrawal or removal of Gabriele D'Annunzio from Fiume would be followed immediately by a final adjustment of the difficulties between Italy and Jugo-Slavia. Officials here are earnestly hoping, therefore, that Fiume will soon be rid of d' Annunzio.

Officials believe, however, that while d'Annunzio retains control of Fiume, premier Nitti will hesitate to take any step which would be regarded as too conciliatory.

This attitude of Nitti it was said, is due to the large nationalist and militarist following d'Annunzio has D'Annunzio, according to reports reaching the United States is losing his ascendency in Fiume.

KETTENHOVEN LOSES TO MARTIN ZOLL AT THE BAY

Wrestling fans who attended the Zoll-Cutler match Friday evening at Green Bay had a chance to see Young Kettenhoven, one of Appleton's budding mat artists, matched with Martin Zoll, brother of the Green Bay champion. Zoll had an apparently easy time with the Appleton boy, although the latter put up a good fight, and threw him twice within a short time.

Cutler, the Windy City champion, proved too much for his opponent, and downed him twice after a contest of short duration.

WOMEN NEED NOT STAND IT

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Surely Removes Suffering and Pain. Here is Proof.

St. Paul, Neb.—"I suffered with periodical pain for about four years so that I was unable to do my work at times. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took it. It soon stopped all my suffering so that I am now feeling fine in every way. I recommend your medicine to my friends who have similar troubles. You may publish this letter for the benefit of other women."—Mrs. WILL THOMAS, St. Paul, Neb.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and today holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For forty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who now are free from suffering by its use.

IS YOUR GUARD DOWN?

Every man is a fighter, though he may not be a pugilist. His daily task is his fight—and he needs to be fit and ready for it.

Constipation to the business fighter is the "out-of-condition" of the pugilist. Constipation not only makes the business fighter dull and slow, and unfit for effort, but it is the "lowered guard" that leaves the opening for the jarring blows of serious diseases.

90% of all diseases have their origin in the intestinal canal—in constipation. Constipation not only causes the generation of poisons, which are carried through the system by the blood and attack it from within, but also by thus lowering the general stamina makes the weakened system an easier prey to harmful germs from without.

By an entirely new principle Nujol keeps the poisonous food waste moving out of the body. Every other form of treatment either irritates or forces the system. Nujol works on the waste matter instead of on the system.

Nujol prevents constipation by keeping the food waste soft, thus helping Nature establish easy, thorough bowel evacuation at regular intervals—the healthiest habit in the world.

It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take—try it.

SCHOOL SYSTEM OF U. S. AUTOCRATIC, TEACHERS ARE TOLD

GERM OF REBELLION AGAINST ACCEPTED METHODS OF TEACHING FOUND IN CLEVELAND

By United Press Leased Wire

Cleveland, O.—Less autocracy and more democracy in public school administration was the demand of delegates to the National Education Association in convention here today.

Charles B. Stillman, president of the American Federation of Teachers, condemned what he termed the "Prussion type of autocratic school rule." He charged that educators were sent to Germany in the search for models and that they returned with the germ of Prussianism. He bitterly attacked "the disease of presidentitis in our colleges and our public schools are no better off."

Stillman and other members urged generous participation in the business of school management by the teachers.

George Drayton Strayer of Columbia University said the teachers must be given an opportunity for self-development and that it cannot be achieved without giving them a voice in administration.

"We are mere automations", several teachers told the convention.

"We are told what to do and are presumed to carry out the orders regardless of the scores of individual cases not in the rule books, forever confronting the average teacher."

Dr. Harlan Updegraff, university of Pennsylvania said the teachers would attain greater efficiency through closer cooperation with the boards of control of their respective schools.

At a meeting of the resolutions committee late this afternoon several important measures will be discussed. It was believed the committee would urge energetic action to influence the adoption of the Smith-Towner bill, providing for the past a secretary of education in the federal cabinet.

Among other resolutions up for endorsement are:

A complete program of physical training, including compulsory military training in the schools; a national thrift program in the schools; intensive Americanism; formation of teachers' federation; a universal program of adult education and a more democratic system of school administration.

Dark colors seem to be more offensive to bees than light, and the person dressed in dark garments should show more caution when handling these useful insects. Offensive odors are also objectionable to them, and the person recently returning from working in the stable or whose perspiration has a distinct odor should show some discretion in making himself familiar around the beehive.—Clintonville Gazette.

HE IS CANDIDATE FOR VICE PRESIDENT

SAMUEL ADAMS

PROHIBITION DRIVES LOBSTERS OFF BROADWAY

By United Press Leased Wire

New York—Joy reigns supreme in lobster heaven, if there is such a place. And if you have any intentions of being re-incarnated and want to be a member of some fish family, you had best decide to be a lobster. That is to say if you believe in prohibition now, you will probably like to come back to earth as a lobster, for lobsters are strong for prohibition.

Lobsters in other days, were symbols of wickedness, and naughtiness and everything, but no more do they stand for these things, for the lobster is disappearing from dry Broadway.

A few months ago when John Barleycorn was popular on Broadway, lobsters were very much in demand even though the executioners did charge a terrible price for taking lobsters' lives. But now, much to the joy of the lobster family, the demand is fast decreasing.

In other words, no one wants to eat lobster unless they have been looking at the wine when it's red and become fascinated with that color.

"Lobster is one of the few dishes not in demand," says Chef Mann of the Claridge Hotel. "For some reason or other lobsters and liquor travel hand in hand and both now appear to be among the land of the spirits as far as Broadway is concerned."

Joy in Conquest

Life's master-key does for its possessor what is impossible to those who do not have it. No future is too forbidding for men of the right mental fiber to fear. Weaklings falter and turn back. Men of talent turned to right channels delight in meeting what has brought failure to the many. It offers to them a chance to try the really hard things. They alone test the skill and prove the mettle. Such men bring wealth out of defeat, and rejoice in the struggle. It's no wonder they step forward and try what has brought failure to others. It's the mental sense of conquest that crowns effort with success and makes man king in the world It's your right.—Exchange.

Derivation of "Hoodlum"

Hoodlum now means a young, rough rowdy. The term is derived from a gang of toughs in San Francisco, under the leadership of one Muldoon. They were called for the name of their leader, the syllables of whose name, out of contempt, were reversed and slightly modified. Instead of Muldoons they were called Hoodlums.

KOREA HAS BEEN THE BATTLEFIELD OF THE EAST FOR MANY YEARS

JAPANESE ARE BLAMED FOR MOST OF THE SUFFERING AND PRIVATIONS OF THE KOREANS

(By Charles Edward Hogue.)

SHANGHAI—Korea, the Belgium of the far east, has been the playground of Mars, for centuries. Mongol, Manchu, Chinese, Japanese and her own rival tribes have swept ruthlessly backward and forward over her lands, devastating hamlets, villages, cities and whole provinces, massacreing her people and leaving terror and destruction in their wake. And in nearly every instance it has been from the Japanese that she has suffered most.

When the Japanese led by Hideyoshi invaded Korea in the last decade of the sixteenth century whole provinces were laid waste, people were slaughtered by the thousands and conditions existed that have not been forgotten by the Koreans to this day.

In the 90's of the last century China and Japan used Korea as a scene of rivalry for supremacy that culminated in the China-Japan war, in which Japan was victorious.

Then came the Russian and Japanese rivalry and the Russo-Japanese war, with Japan again the victor in 1905.

Followed the Japanese protectorate which culminated in annexation of the country by Japan in 1910.

Japan had the sympathy of most of the western world up to the time of the close of the Russo-Japanese war and had she shown faith in fulfillment of her treaties not only would she have avoided the present revolt of Korea against Japanese domination, but, further, she could have created a contented colony. Korean rule was corrupt and parasitic and the lot of the masses was undeniably hard.

Through contrast, the Japanese could have won loyalty had she seen fit to carry out her promises of an honest administration, material benefits to the Korean people, certain freedom and fair dealing.

But, using the same tactics that she has applied in China in the last few years, Nippon showed her intention of closing her grip on the unfortunate nation. Support of corrupt interests, stuffing of official posts with dummies instructed to foreclose the nation's independence and similar methods were employed. The Koreans must shoulder a share of the burden. They sat supinely by while the Japanese stood over emperor and cabinet with drawn swords and forced a conquest as clearly as though by armed invasion.

Had she given Korea fair play it would have made China, similarly facing decay, less resolute in her opposition to Japanese encroachment; opposition that has taken the form of a boycott on Japanese goods and which has become so widespread as to have caused genuine concern in Nippon's commerical circles.

The Korean was given almost no rights in his own country. He has no political representation and the few petty offices doled out to natives of the country are thoroughly safeguarded by Japanese advisers who hold all the authority.

There is no freedom of speech. No gathering, even of a social nature, of more than three persons is allowed.

There is no freedom of press. There is no newspaper printed in the Korean language and edited by a Korean published in that land.

Promises of reforms have been made—were made last March, in fact, when Baron Saito inaugurated a new administration—but thus far they have been carried out only in a minor degree. And if they were carried out in full it is doubtful if the revolt of the Koreans would subside.

They have risen against assimilation: they maintain that their race must live!

Truly, the Hermit Kingdom has become the Permit Kingdom.

An official ordinance in one community, it is on record and this is easily substantiated, provides that every Korean have a fly-swatter, in the interests of sanitation.

The inevitable inspector found that one family of five persons had only four swatters. A 10-months-old baby was without one. The family was fined.

But not all official oppression is so trivial as this.

First Opera in England

In 1656 there was produced "The Siege of Rhodes: Made a Representation by the Art of Perspectives in Scenes and the story sung in recitative Musick," which a writer in the Dictionary of National Biography characterized as "in some respects the most epoch-making play in the language." It was virtually the first opera produced in England.

BOOZE EMPORIUMS MOVING TO HAVANA FOR BIG BUSINESS

MILLIONS OF DOLLARS BACK CONVICTION THAT PEOPLE WON'T LEAVE SPORTING LIFE

(By Lee J. Smits.)

HAVANA — Several millions of dollars in American capital are being invested in the conviction that citizens of the United States cannot, or will not, dispense with the sporting life.

This investment is actually a wager.

"We are betting that Americans can't be made good by laws," said Jack Margolis, Michigan roadhouse proprietor and owner of the New York bar here. Margolis has put many thousands into hotel stock and into his saloon business and is confident of making a fortune.

"Things are tame down here right now," I was told by H. D. Brown, manager of Oriental Park, the Cuba-American Jockey Club's track. "There has been a lot of propaganda in the states, especially among the Florida resorts, knocking Havana. They have spread the reports that it costs $85 a day to live down here, that flu is killing hundreds, that the town is full of crooks and the labor situation borders on revolution. Next year, and in years to come, this will be the pleasure-capital of America. It will be gayer than Paris."

What, then, are the present facts about gay life in Havan?

New Orleans and San Francisco, up until recent reform movements and prohibition came into force, altogether out-distanced Havana in the extent and the abandon of their night life.

And there is nothing even remotely reminiscent of old Broadway.

There are, in Havana, three cafes where music and dancing are offered on anything like the scale of an ordinary American cabaret. One of these cafes is in a suburb. Jazz music, dancing and drinks are the attractions. The cafes are not vicious in any sense, and the attendance is never large.

At the splendid track of the Jockey Club, with weather and racing conditions nothing less than perfect; with a long line of bookmakers and of pari-mutuel booths eagerly taking bets, the week-day crowds are thin in the extreme. On Saturdays and Sundays, the big days, we saw, perhaps, a 75 per cent attendance. Of the front-row boxes, the only one occupied was the press box.

The flu rumors, passport complications and the lack of hotel accommodations are given in explanation of the lame aspect of Havana, from the sporting viewpoint.

We saw no direct evidences of flu. Havana's 18 daily newspapers made no mention of an epidemic. We were told that the mild climate made fatalities from bronchial infections very rare.

The hotels now in operation certainly do not appeal to American tastes nor American pocketbooks, since the typical spender in the United States always like to feel that he is getting a show for his money.

Rooms that in midsummer rent for $2.50 a day are now bringing in $16. "With bath" means nothing in the young life of a Cuban hotel proprietor. Sometimes the bath tub roosts in the middle of the bedroom. Sometimes it is directly adjoining, in which case its privacy is purely fictional. The porter keeps the mops and pails in your bath, the barber obtains his cold water for shaving from your bath, strange persons invade it at all hours, and the lock won't work!

There has been, and is, much propaganda afloat regarding Havana as a tourist center. It is evenly divided, for and against. Outside of the hotel exploitation, prices are reasonable; the city is clean, splendidly policed and full of natural attraction. Its drives and buildings are picturesque and when the American capitalists who are putting up hotels have completed the job, the city will have a strong appeal for cold-weather refugees.

But the wild yarns of Havana as a second Babylon; as a capital of feverish gayeties, thronged with spenders, are hatched in the minds of thirsty folk who would like to come here, but can't, or else these tales are circulated by irresponsible press agents.

Conservative Cubans are not at all interested in seeing their metropolis advertised as the mecca for sporting characters, and it is American cash that is being expended in the construction of the three or four new hotels which will be opened next fall.

FOR ITCHING TORTURE

Use Antiseptic Liquid Zemo

There is one remedy that seldom fails to stop itching torture and relieve skin irritation and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy.

Any druggist can supply you with Zemo, which generally overcomes skin diseases. Eczema, itch, pimples, rashes, blackheads, in most cases give way to Zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe, antiseptic liquid, clean, easy to use and dependable. It costs only 35c; an extra large bottle, $1.00. It will not stain, is not greasy or sticky and is positively safe for tender, sensitive skins.

NEED IMMIGRATION TO FILL IN GAPS IN THE RANKS OF U. S. LABOR

FARMERS AND EMPLOYERS ARE AGREED THAT AMERICA IS IN NEED OF MORE MAN POWER

(By H. P. Burton.)

NEW YORK—In the farmers' own diagnosis of farming conditions, as just revealed in replies to the United States Postoffice Department questionnaire, American manufacturers recognize symptoms of the same conditions affecting industry, according to William H. Barr, president of the National Founders' Association. Barr sees the troubles of the farmer and the manufacturer arising from practically the same causes and considers the treatment to be the same in both cases.

"The farmer places the blame for the shortage of farm help upon the higher wages and easier living afforded by the cities, but he does not take into consideration the fact that the same acute shortage of help exists in the cities where employers are trying to take help away from one another," said Barr.

"There is little new labor being added to the supply. Help Wanted columns are the best evidence of that. It is estimated that employers in the United States have spent more than $30,000,000 hiring help away from one another during the past year!

"In getting at the explanation of this labor shortage both the farmer and the manufacturer must consider the fact that during the war we were deprived of the supply of new labor we had been accustomed to getting from Europe.

"As the situation exists today we are 4,000,000 workers short in America, due to dwindling of immigration. There is not enough manpower to go around; wages have gone up and up; living costs have mounted apace and the situation of which the farmers complain—that their help and their children have been lured to the cities by higher wages—has resulted.

"The increased cost of commodities which the farmer has to buy is also attributable to the acute shortage of manpower in the industries that supply the farmers' needs. Until recently the foreign-born workmen provided more than half of the unskilled labor in the basic industries, especially in those lines purchased by the farmers, such as agricultural machinery, lumbering and lumber products, textiles and shoes.

"The American farmer today is buying metal products at an increase of 186 per cent; clothing, at an increase of 243 per cent; lumber, at an increase of 197 per cent. He has every reason in the world to complain. But so has the manufacturer, for in each of these industries immigrant labor has represented from 50 to 72 per cent of the entire unskilled labor force, and this labor is more and more difficult to get.

"The solution of the problem, I believe, lies in an adequate supply of new labor—not a deluge of labor. We need immigrants who are best adapted to the needs of America, who are most easily assimilated into our national life.

"There is no other source except immigration, from which to draw the necessary manpower to fill the gaps in primary labor."

DIARY OF PASTOR'S SON SHOWS DARING RECORD OF CRIME

WAS CLEVER CROOK EXCEPT IN DISPOSAL OF STOLEN GOODS —MURDER ENTRY A MERE HOAX

NEW YORK—"I killed a man."

That is not a line from Broadway's latest crime play. It's merely an entry in the "crime diary" of Robert Bruce Hull, 15, son of a retired Newark, N. J., minister. And, according to both police officers of New York, Albany and Newark, it's about the only entry in the crime diary that does not bear the imprint of truth.

In other words, as far as police can ascertain Robert Bruce Hull did not kill a man, but he, as Damon and Henry Schulte 18-year-old millionaire's son, as Pythias, were partners in the 42 robberies chronicled in that diary.

This story, if it were written for the movies, might be called "The Tale of a Hairpin." But strangely enough the leading characters in it profess a strong dislike for the movies—too tame, they say.

According to the story of the 15-year-old boy, Robert Hull, he and his buddy started out on their highly successful crime career on the last night of the year, 1919. Hull and Schulte attended a watch-night meeting in a Newark (N. J.) church. They saw Benjamin Lissner and his family in the audience and after a few minutes of whispered consultation slipped out.

A few minutes later they were engaged in robbing the Lissner home, having entered after picking the lock with a hairpin. And, but a very few minutes later, they had completed the job and were back in the church pew. The success of that adventure led them away from home, to Albany, to Troy, to New York City and half a dozen other places. And each time when a job was completed Hull would write an account of it in his diary like this:

"Entered home of M. Nellis, New Scotland-av, found nobody home. Stole watch, pin and toy bank with $17, which I emptied out and took. Threw the bank away. Also got some handkerchiefs."

"We weren't doing very well in Albany and Schulte was getting lazy, so I made that entry about killing a man just to kid him into leaving that dead burg," Hull told police.

Hull says Schulte wasn't cut out for a neat worker, anyway.

"I always had to furnish the brains," said Hull. "I was the one who picked locks with a hairpin. I thought of the scheme of wearing silk gloves so they wouldn't get our finger prints And I figured out the scheme for getting houses where no one was at home."

Hull's ability to pick locks and his knowledge of crime methods is amazing, police say. The only thing he didn't do in an expert fashion was to sell the things he and his buddy stole. And it was that lack of ability that landed him in the hands of officers. He was picked up by a plain clothes man while trying to dispose of a vanity case to a Bowery pawnbroker.

He is being held by the children's society because he is too young to be kept in jail, and yet he's five feet ten inches tall, and weighs nearly 150 pounds. And here is his plan of life:

"You don't get anywhere by being honest. If you work like a dog and save every cent by the time you're 45 you may have $5,000, but you'll be too tired out to enjoy it. I made up my mind to get $10,000 by the time I was 18 and then settle down on a farm. That's the life. And believe me, Schulte and I would have had that much if they'd let us alone a month longer."

Date of Christ's Birth

The Christian era, first used by a monk, Dionysius Exiguus, in the year 533 A. D. and adopted by Christian nations at a later period, was intended to begin with the birth of Christ. Dionysius is believed, however, to have made an error in fixing that event in the year of Rome 754 instead of 750. Christ's birth is now considered to have taken place in or before the year 4 B. C.

BETTER THAN CALOMEL

Thousands Have Discovered Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a Harmless Substitute

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—the substitute for calomel—are a mild but sure laxative, and their effect on the liver is almost instantaneous. These little olive-colored tablets are the result of Dr. Edwards' determination not to treat liver and bowel complaints with calomel.

The pleasant little tablets do the good that calomel does, but have no bad after effects. They don't injure the teeth like strong liquids or calomel. They take hold of the trouble and quickly correct it. Why cure the liver at the expense of the teeth? Calomel sometimes plays havoc with the gums. So do strong liquids. It is best not to take calomel. Let Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets take its place.

Headaches, "dullness" and that lazy feeling come from constipation and a disordered liver. Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets when you feel "logy" and "heavy." They "clear" clouded brain and "perk up" the spirits 10c and 25c.

Use Cocoanut Oil For Washing Hair

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily, and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

AMERICANS CAN HELP FOE PRISONERS IN SIBERIA

The American Red Cross has made arrangemnts by which individuals in this country may send money to German, Austrian and Hungarian prisoners of war in Siberia, as long as representatives of this country remain in that region. They will work through a department organized for that purpose at Washington, D. C., from which remittances will be sent to the Red Cross stations in Siberia and from there delivered to the men. It is estimated that $250 will repatriate one prisoner from Siberia to his home country.

Full particulars of the procedure and requirements necessary to accomplish this can be obtained from the Home Service section here. The process is rather complicated, but makes possible a service that has heretofore been denied these unfortunates of the war.

The total number of awards to World War heroes amounted to 5828, including 1516 D. S. C.'s to officers and 3593 to enlisted men, and 78 Medals of Honor.

Ancient Perfume

It seems strange to read of saffron as a perfume, but such it was almost universally, and an element of "romance" about it lies in the story told by Hakluyt of a pilgrim smuggling at the risk of his life, from the Levant, a head of saffron in a hollow made in his staff.

BURGLAR'S ENTRANCE WOULD BE HANDY

Little Rock, Arkansas—The robber who entered Deputy U. S. Marshal R. G. Hodge's home, 511 Rock street, was compelled to select from "broken lots."

Three others have preceded him during the last two months.

The post-season intruder took $6 and a pistol from a back room while the family was in the front part of the house.

It has been suggested that Hodges establish a "burglar's entrance" for the convenience of future marauders.

Lumberjack's Appetite

We heard some time ago that the managers of the lumber camps had decided to refuse free feeds to the vagrant lumberjacks, drifting from camp to camp, but not till we saw a lumberjack eat did we understand the fine impulse that led to the decision. After eating his fill, if one of the fellows should try to push his way down a logging road, he would get stuck between the trees and probably stay there until he starved.—Detroit News.

SPRING TRAINING SEASON FOR BALL PLAYERS ON TODAY

CONNIE MACK'S PITCHERS START ANNUAL MOVEMENT TO TRAINING GROUNDS OF THE SOUTH

(By Henry L. Farrell.)
By United Press Leased Wire

New York—Nothing more than a flicker remains in the baseball "stove." The winter league with its hard fought games and disputed policies, around the stove, ends today.

Connie Mack's Athletes start a slight movement on the baseball front that will expand into a general movement on the whole sector.

Between today and March 12, when the White Sox are to form the rear guard of the south-going teams, all the major league clubs are to get into action.

The battery men of the Athletes start work today in Lake Charles, La. Jack Coombs and the pitchers of the Detroit Tigers are to join Eddie Ainsmith in Columbus, Ga., before the middle of the week. The whole Jennings clan is to be on hand next Monday. Speaker's clan of hurlers is to leave Wednesday for New Orleans. They are to be joined by the regulars March 12.

Charles Ebbets and his Dodgers will start the National league movement Thursday when Manager Robinson and his flock of pitchers leave for Jacksonville, Florida. The following day Clark Griffith's slab men and a few catchers jump into the Pullmans for Tampa.

Seven clubs leave next Saturday. The Giants to Marlin, Tex., the Yankees to Jacksonville, Fla.; the Cubs to Pasadena, Calif.; the Browns to Taylor, Tex.; the Cardinals to Brownsville, Tex.; the Red Sox and the Pirates to Hot Springs.

Next Sunday the Braves leave for Columbus, Ga., the Reds head for Miami, Fla., and the Phillies to Birmingham.

Then the last of the van, Kid Gleason and his pale hose leave March 12, for Waco, Tex.

Between now and April 14, the tongues of the north may still wag between lines of the traininig gossip. They're wagging now over time.

Retirement of John McGraw as manager of the Giants is one of the new rumors. It is reported that McGraw and Charles Stoneham, president of the club, had a fist fight sometime ago in Havana after which McGraw said:

"Either you go, or I go."

Colonel Houston, part owner of the Yankees took occasion today to deny the reports that he had disagreed with his partner, Col. Jacob Ruppert, over the policies of the club and would dispose of his interests. It was reported that Houston was against any settlement of the row with the Johnson faction of the American league and that he had an open row with Ruppert when the peace pact was signed.

KILBANE TO MEET REAL OPPOSITION TOMORROW NIGHT

OLD TIMER MAY BE FORCED TO EXTEND HIMSELF TO GAIN VICTORY IN VALGER BOUT.

(By Henry L. Farrell.)
By United Press Leased Wire

New York.—Johnny Kilbane is in his ninth year as the featherweight champion. Since Washington's birthday of 1912 when he won the championship from Abe Attell, he has seen a long file of champions walking from the royal parlors to obscurity.

In eight years Jack Johnson and Jess Willard have come and gone as heavyweight champions. The middleweight division has paid homage to Frank Klaus, George Chip and Al. McCoy. Ad. Walgast, Willie Ritchie and Freddie Welsh have had their whirl at greatness in the lightweight ranks and the bantams have been ruled by Johnny Coulon and Kid Williams.

Since 1917 when Kilbane left his class and ran into the lone knockout of his career by Benny Leonard, the lightweight champion, boxing fans have been adding the Cleveland Irishman to the ranks of the passing stars every time he faced any kind of opposition.

Tomorrow night in Newark, he meets the best featherweight among the contenders, Benny Valger, the New York boy, who has been chasing him for two years. The usual floral wreaths and a space in the pugilistic obituary column have been reserved by some of the wise ones for the champion.

Kilbane may be through. Certainly at the age of 32 he has passed his prime, but it is doubtful that he has gone back enough to let Valger knock him out and as it is a no decision bout nothing but a short period of sleep will remove the crown from his head.

The New Yorker, who has taken upon himself the title of the "French flash," is aggressive, fast, rather clever, but he is not over-laden with a punch. For that matter Kilbane seems to have lost his to some extent. But the champion has been milling around for a long time and he knows a few things about the game. He can fight many a no decision battle with his head when the steam has all departed from his arms.

Kilbane is going in at catch weights and will force Valger to make 124 pounds at 3 o'clock. The New Jersey boxing commission has given its recognition as a championship affair despite the fact that Kilbane is not making the class weight. If Valger knocks him out, Valger will be the featherweight champion in New Jersey at least, Chairman Smith said.

Deaths in 1918 were 1,471,367, or 18 per thousand population, the highest rate on record in the Census Bureau. The cause given is the influenza epidemic.

TEN CENT BASEBALL FOR KIDS ON COAST

YOUNGSTERS ALONG PACIFIC COAST WILL HAVE CHANCE TO SEE GAMES AT A SMALL COST

(Special to Post-Crescent)

San Francisco, Cal. — Ten Cent baseball for kids meets with the approval of the Pacific Coast League.

Each and every club owner of the big western circuit placed himself on record as favoring a cheap admission price for boys under 12 years of age at the recent annual meeting of the directors. They unanimously adopted a resolution to admit all boys free at least twice weekly and charge them only 10 cents on other days, including Saturdays and Sundays.

Manager Charley Graham of San Francisco, as practical a baseball man as there is in the minors, agrees with Business Manager Bobby Quinn of St. Louis, who regards the youngsters of today the fans of tomorrow.

"I learned to love the national pastime when I was in knee pants," Graham stated, "and I believe all followers of the game become attached to baseball when they are boys. Therefore, if we give the youngsters a chance to learn the game now I think they will always regard it as their favorite amusement."

There always has been a "Kid' Day" at the Pacific Coast League's park in Francisco. It is an institution now and as many as 3500 boys crowd their way into the section set aside for them when they are admitted free. Moreover, they are absolutely loyal rooters. They never seem to lose heart and even when the home team is far behind they make as much noise as when their favorites are staging a rally in a close game.

Wm. H. McCarthy, newly elected president of the league, regards the youngsters who attend the games on "Kids' Day" as the biggest boosters for the game in the west.

"They tell their parents and their older relatives about the games at the dinner table," McCarthy states, "and thus interest them in baseball. As a result, on Saturdays and Sundays you will see them attending the games with the kids. It doesn't cost anything to let them in free once or twice weekly, as the majority of them could not afford to pay their way into the parks anyway, and you make lifetime fans by doing so."

M'GRAW SPENDS ALL HIS TIME IN SPORTS

NEW YORK GIANTS' MANAGER DEVOTES WINTER MONTHS TO WATCHING PONIES IN CUBA

By Lee J. Smits
(Special to Post-Crescent)

Havana—One American, who, as an "insider" in sport, lives at all seasons in an atmosphere which the average man is lucky to find on holidays, is John McGraw.

When it isn't baseball for Muggsy, it's the ponies.

As a vice president, heavy stockholder and active supervisor of the Cuba-American Jockey Club here, McGraw is getting his share of the prosperity flowing to this island by reason of its sunshine and its anti-prohibition government.

The 100 days of racing at Oriental Park in Marianao, a suburb of Havana, just about fills in the times between the closing of the world series and the opening of the training season.

The track in which McGraw is interested is as picturesquely situated as any race course in the world, with a background of palm-fringed hills and long successions of cloudless days, each one concluding with a tropical sunset which enchants the eye of the most hardened habitudes of the grandstand.

When racing was instituted at Marianao, the sailing was not so clear. It is reputed that, several years ago, the mayor of the suburb lost heavily one afternoon and, in reprisal, cut off the park's water supply.

As a result, the red clay dissolved under pounding hoofs into a fine red dust which arose in clouds and settled on the Parisian gowns of Cuban belles and the white suits of their escorts, so that on the day following there wasn't enough of a gate to pay the ticket-takers.

But now Oriental Park looks like a real gold mine A splendid new clubhouse is being erected, and with the suspension of passport requirements and the erection of new hotels in Havana, the stampede of thirsty tourists, hungry for sport, will become a reality instead of a mere press agent's dream.

McGraw, it is rumored in baseball circles, is nearing the end of his career as an active manager.

He is rapidly approaching the magnate class, we are credibly informed.

BADGER INSTRUCTOR SPEAKS FOR ARMENIA

Madison.—Why should the American people be called upon to give their money to save the Armenians? In answer to this question Prof. W. L. Westerman of the University of Wisconsin gives the following reasons:

"Because they are worth saving to the world. They are a nation of producers, chiefly farmers. They are morally sound—known to be virtuous to a very high degree.

"Because it has been, and must continue to be the outstanding characteristics of the American people to try to be helpful to other peoples, with no desire to take from them their territory or their liberty. In the Armenion situation we have a chance to show again the same unselfish spirit of generosity that has been our highest claim to rank as a great and useful nation in the international affairs. Because this is a sheer case of death or life for about 400,000 women and little children."

HAVE EVIDENCE OF PROPAGANDA TO MOVE BODIES OF HEROES

WAR DEPARTMENT IS INFORMED BY UNDERTAKERS TO EXHUME BODIES OF SLAIN

By Carolyn Vance Bell
(Special to Post-Crescent)

Washington—Though the War Department has direct evidences of propaganda by undertakers for the return of American dead from France, it is going ahead in its plans for fulfilling the promise made at the beginning of the war to return all soldier dead to those who wish it.

Ralph Hayes, assistant to the secretary of war, has started overseas to inspect the beginnings of the work of preparing for the return of the military dead.

In response to a questionnaire sent out by the War Department to the next of kin of those killed in the war, 59 per cent wish the bodies returned to the homes; about 26 per cent desire their retention overseas and somewhat less than 15 per cent have not yet indicated a choice.

The unexpectedly large proportion of those who wish their dead returned is due, officials believe, to the frantic activity of the undertakers who are responsible for the formation of the "Bring Back Your Dead Leagues" in all parts of the country.

The War Department has collected evidence of all kinds that would be useful should Congress start an investigation of the activities of the undertakers. There are copies of anonymous form letters sent to the bereaved, agitating for the return of the dead. They have excerpts from The Casket, a trade publication of the undertakers, in which jubilation is expressed over the good business prospects ahead when Congress provides an appropriation for the return of the dead.

The activities of French undertakers in this country and their connection with the American Purple Cross, the association of undertakers formed for the purpose of creating sentiment for return of the dead, has been noted. One undertaker of Paris, E. Teysseyre, professes to have a pull with French officials, which he can use to obtain any body asked for "for only $600."

The French government has passed a law prohibiting the removal of any body of whatever nationality from the zone in which the greatest number of casualties occurred, within three years. The undertakers advance the argument that the French people had that law passed so that they could profiteer upon the bereaved of the American people who might wish to visit the graves of their dead.

They also claim that if the American dead are allowed to remain in France, and France should be again invaded and our graves violated, we might be drawn again into war.

Among the records of the War Department is much data that could be used to combat the propaganda of the undertakers. When the American dead in Siberia were sent to the United States, 112 in number, there were 16 mistakes made in sending bodies to homes other than their own. When that proportion is applied to the 80,322 American soldier dead in France, the number of mistakes that might be made is appalling.

When the American dead in the Philippines were returned to the United States, bodies of Chinese coolies were returned by error to homes which had lost loved ones.

When Secretary Baker says "there will undoubtedly be distressing mistakes and the inevitable destructiveness of war will make unavoidable the fresh wounding of many relatives who request the return o fthier loved ones from overseas," he means that something equally ghastly might result.

BRYAN DENIES HE WILL SUPPORT SEN. HITCHCOCK

By United Press Leased Wire

Miami, Fla.—When William Jennings Bryan was asked here today regarding the truth of publizhed reports to the effect that he might support Senator Hitchcock for the democratic presidential nomination at San Francisco he said:

"I do not care to discuss the matter at this time further than to say that there is no ground for the rumor that I will favor Senator Hitchcock's nomination."

Dear Sir:

It is with pleasure that I write to let you know that after taking eleven months treatment I am completely cured. When I first started to doctor with you I weighed 127 pounds and now I weigh 149, had been sick for two years, had doctored with different doctors; but they didn't seem to help me, they wanted to operate me, so one day I met one of your patients, and she told me to go and see you and I am very thankful I did. I am pleased to have by statement published, and I hope it will help someone to believe. Wishing you success, I remain.

Yours very truly.

Dear Doctor:—

Three years ago I came to you with a rupture on the left side and took your treatment. I worked right along every day during the time that I was under treatment and I have been cured and am as strong as ever. I am thoroughly satisfied with the way you treated me and have recommended you to friends who have also taken treatment. I wear no truss and would never know that I had ever had a rupture. You may refer anyone to me wishing to investigate your method of treating rupture without operation.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Easily and cheaply made.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croup, throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way you get a full pint—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for three times the money. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

MARSHFIELD TEACHERS GIVEN SALARY RAISES

Marshfield, Wis.—The school board increased the salaries of the teachers as follows: For the present year the minimum salary in the grades has been increased from $62.50 to $82.50 and the maximum from $82.50 to $95. High school teachers were given an increase of $15 per month from Jan. 1 to the end of the school year.

The grade teachers' salaries were fixed at a minimum, $1,000, to $1,500 as a maximum. The high school teachers' salaries were fixed at a minimum of $1,200 with maximum at $2,000. The salary of the principal was increased from $1,600 to $2,375.

The superintendents' salary was increased from $2,500 for this year to $3,500 for next year. The Marshfield schools rank among the best in the state.

CARLOAD SUGAR LOST EN ROUTE TO MILWAUKEE

Ironwood, Mich.—Unless two carloads of sugar, lost somewhere between here and Milwaukee, are found soon, Ironwood will be entirely out of the commodity. For two weeks the wholesalers have been without stock and only a few retailers have any left. The small stocks consist of unbleached and brown varieties that bring 25 cents a pound.

ROAD CONSTRUCTION MEETS OBSTACLES

Juneau, Wis.—Notwithstanding that the county board raised the salary of road patrolmen to $160 a month with a $5 bonus provision, nine of the twenty patrol sections of Dodge county are without applicants.

The high cost of labor and material, and a scarcity of some essentials, will interfere with road construction. Cement manufacturers advised the county road organization that it will be impossible to allot more than 70,000 barrels of cement to any one of the several counties bonded for highway construction. This will limit the concrete work to about ten miles in the county, and federal roads will be given first attention.

The county highway committee selected the Beaver Dam and Horicon road and a portion of the Watertown plank road for concrete surfacing, and advertising for bids has been unsatisfactory. No bids were received for the Watertown plank road and a Milwaukee firm's bid of $40,379.46 a mile for the Beaver Dam road was rejected as excessive.

Racine, Wis.—On motion of the state, a court commissioner Saturday dismissed the case against Sam and Batisti Mangiavillano and Charles Dale, defendants on a charge of murder resulting from a bloody battle in the Mangiavillano fruit store Nov. 14, in which three men were killed. Evidence brought out in the preliminary hearing pointed to the fact Sam Spinacci and Tom Tedesco, two of the men killed, had started the shooting after writing threatening letters demanding money. Batisti recently left the hospital. He had a bullet wound in the stomach.

Work of construction is to be started as soon as weather permits this spring.

PUPILS SPEND $12,000 ON YEARS'S GOODIES

Waupaca, Wis.—Judging from a survey taken in the Waupaca public schools, about $12,000 is expended by the pupils for movies and other amusements, candies, etc., during the school year.

In the grades 467 children answered the four questions asked, eliciting the facts that 104 of them attended a movie at least once each week, 34 went twice a week, 14 three times, 3 attended six times a week, spending $18.92, and for other amusements, $10.05; for candies and other sweets in a month, $296.25, and a total for these non-essentials in the nine-month school year is $2,109.24.

In the high school 260 students responded to the questions. One hundred and eleven attended movies, once a week, 59 twice a week, 25 three times a week, 6 four times, 2 five times and 2 go six times a week, spending $22.78, and for other amusements, $127.34. For candies, etc., $84.35, a total of $215.37 per week, or $981.42 a month or $8,833.33 per school year. As over 10 per cent did not answer, it is estimated that the total for movies, amusements and candies agregate at least $12,000 for the school year.

Thrift lessons are now being given in each room, in an endeavor to cut down the amounts spent on non-essentials.

ELECTRIC CITY WILL TAKE CARE OF 40 ARMENIAN ORPHANS —OTHER KAUKAUNA NEWS

Kaukauna—Kaukauna has gone over the top in the campaign for the Near East Relief drive, the only city in the county that has reached the required goal.

Citizens of the city subscribed $2,400 in the three day campaign, enough to care for 40 orphans for one year. John Coppes was chairman of the committee in charge of the campaign.

Outagamie county raised more than $8,000 for the campaign, and work will be continued until the goal of $15,000 is reached. Dr. H. E. Peabody, Appleton, is county chairman of the drive.

Union Bag to Have Team

One of the fastest games of the season will be played here tonight when the Union Bag and Paper Company basketball quintet plays the Menasha Legion team at the auditorium. The local aggregation includes some of the best basket men in the city, and the visitors will have a hard tussle on their hands.

While the Union team is newly formed, practice has been held regularly and the locals are in good shape for the fray. Interest in the battle is keen, and a big crowd of rooters is expected. A number of Menasha fans will attend.

Quiet Holiday

Monday, Washington's birthday, was quietly observed in the city yesterday. No programs were held, but banks, barber shops, and several other of the shops closed in honor of the day.

Council Meeting

The next regular meeting of the common council will be held at the city hall Tuesday evening, March 2. Several matters of importance will be taken up at the meeting.

Father and Son Feast

The second father and son banquet of the week was held at Masonic hall Friday evening. A good sized crowd was present. The speakers emphasized the necessity of closer relationship between the boy and his dad, and explained the significance of father and son week, which is observed nationally every year.

A fine musical program by students of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music was rendered. The program included numbers by Carl Beglinger, cellist; Harry Willson, tenor; and Miss Mildred Rapraeger, reader.

Will Attend Bout

A big crowd of Kaukauna mat fans will attend the Zoll-Schober wrestling match at the armory at Appleton Thursday night. In a previous match between the two grapplers, the bout was called a draw after two hours of fast work. The men will wrestle to a finish Thursday night.

Kaukauna Team Wins

The state bowling tourney closed last night at Manitowoc with the Gantter-Bedat team of this city in the high position in the five man event with a score of 2836. Several Kaukauna men will also get in the money in the single and doubles events.

UNIVERSITY STUDENTS ARE STRONG FOR MALTED MILK

(Special to Post-Crescent.)

Madison, Wis.—University of Wisconsin students consume 20,000 glasses of malted milk a month, according to statistics compiled by The Daily Cardinal, the student paper, from the owners of the 28 mixing machines used in the immediate vicinity of the campus, where practically all of the trade is with students. This is estimated to mean that approximately 1,200 pounds of malted milk, 1,500 quarts of ice cream, and 3,600 quarts of milk, not to speak of the many gallons of rich chocolate flavoring, go every month into the concoction of the students' favorite drink. At this rate 8,500 gallons of the beverage will be consumed by the students during the school year.

SORENESS AND TIGHTNESS OF THE THROAT NATURE'S ALARM SIGNAL

Sore Throat Is Dangerous

Soreness and tightness of the throat is nature's Alarm Signal. It signifies an inflammation of the tender mucous membrane lining of the throat, nose and mouth, a condition that lays open your system to the instant attack of many dangerous disease germs. To neglect this warning is only playing with Providence.

Muco-Solvent is the one best remedy and should be used promptly. It has many uses in the home. Especially recommended for Coughs, Colds, Whooping Coughs, Croup, Tonsilitis and Quinsy.

The prompt use of Muco-Solvent will in many instances prevent the appearance of influenza, Scarlet Fever and Diphtheria. These dreaded diseases usually result from the lack of prompt attention to minor troubles affecting the nose and throat.

Get a bottle of Muco-Solvent promptly. It is a pure, harmless vegetable compound that destroys and dispels deadly germs. It effectively soothes and heals the inflamed parts, dissolves mucous discharges and relieves congestion in the air passages.

Do not be without a bottle of this splendid family medicine. Get a bottle today of any druggist or write Loewy Drug Co., Baltimore, Md.

BADGER VETERANS OF BIG WAR MAY GET $75,000,000

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison, Wis.—Wisconsin World War veterans will receive a total of $75,000,000 in case congress decides to grant the recently formulated request of the American Legion for $50 a month for each man who served during the war, according to an estimate made by Major E. A. Fitzpatrick, former state draft administrator, now secretary of the State Board of Education.

The cash bonus of Wisconsin involves an expenditure of $15,000,000, he explained, for an award of $10 per month for each month in service, with a minimum of $50, while the federal bonus of $50 a month would be just five times that of the state. The federal bonus as requested by the Legion is to be over and above any state award, so that whether the Wisconsin soldier received the cash bonus or the educational bonus or none at all he would be entitled to the federal bonus. It is estimated the federal bonus would mean a total expenditure of $1,900,000,000 which would be provided through a new bond issue.

LINOTYPE MACHINES BASIS FOR SUIT

Janesville. — Declaring that the Janesville News Publishing Co., the concern which until three days ago issued the Morning News here, operated two linotypes belonging to him without paying for them or the rent on them since Aug. 27 last, John A. Morison, through his attorneys, Tenney, Tenney and Reynolds, Madison, brings suit in the circuit court here. He seeks to recover $6,781 and interest, the value of the machines and their extra parts, or to have the machines returned to him.

GERMANS WILL NOT BE ABLE TO CARRY OUT TREATY TERMS

MADISON BUSINESS MEN ARE TOLD THAT ECONOMIC CLAUSES ARE IMPOSSIBLE OF FULFILLMENT

(Special to Post-Crescent)

Madison.—Many of the provisions of the peace treaty are a physical as well as economic impossibility of fulfillment, according to Dr. C. K. Leith, of the University of Wisconsin.

Dr. Leith, in discussing the subject of "Minerals in Relation to the Peace Treaty" before the West End Community Men's Club, here, stated that it was a physical as well as economical impossibility for Germany, for example, to deliver all of the coal to the allies that the treaty calls for. Dr. Leith, who accompanied the American Peace commissioners to Europe as the expert on minerals, declared that few people have any conception of the enormous part minerals played and will play in the peace treaty.

"The metropolitan newspapers and magazines are just beginning to touch on the subject," he declared, "and the more they go into the subject, the more they learn of it, the bigger and more important they will learn it is." The figures on various minerals are being revised constantly, he said, and it will be some time before the complete details can be worked out.

At first it was estimated that France was to take over the potash fields in Alsace as a certain part of Germany's indemnity. It was first figured that this potash was worth a given, enormous amount. But when the engineers got to figuring on it, it was learned that the estimate was for the entire amount presumed to be in the fields, at the present price, and no consideration was taken of the fact that it would cost a vast sum to produce it and that it would take many years, during which time the price would undoubtedly vary.

Speaking of the German coal which the present terms of the peace treaty provide shall be turned over to France, Italy, Belgium, etc., annually, he declared Germany produced about 191,000,000 tons of coal annually prior to the war, that over 100,000,000 tons were consumed in Germany, but that the present plans call for about 60 per cent of the total to be delivered to the allies annually. This, he declared would practically kill every industry in Germany, while France, for example, could not use nearly all the coal she is supposed to receive.

He declared a special committee appointed at the peace table has had complete charge of the distribution of coal throughout Europe this winter, that its powers are necessarily enormous, but that America, not having ratified the treaty has no voice in the matter on the committee, which, he said, could, although he did not think it probable, practically close every mine in the United States almost over night, by its rulings on the handling of coal, copper, iron, etc. Economic conditions, he said must eventually play an important part, but the League of Nations, imperfect though it may be at present, would be the neucleus of what will eventually be the ruling body of the world, and that in his opinion unless the United States enters the League it will suffer commercially.

ANCIENT PAPERS ARE GIVEN TO LIBRARY

S. J. RYAN FINDS COPIES OF EASTERN NEWSPAPERS PUBLISHED IN 1841 AND 1843

While looking up old records Monday, S. J. Ryan came upon a copy of the New York Herald of Monday, June 19, 1843, a copy of the New York National Jubilee published July 4, 1841, and a copy of The Columbian published at Hartford, Conn., and bearing date of November 9, 1844, which he has presented to the public library.

The copy of the New York Herald contains a full report of the dedication of Bunker Hill monument at Boston and a verbatim report of Daniel Webster's dedicatory oration. An editorial paragraph says:

"We give today a full description of the Bunker Hill celebration, accompanied with engravings illustrating different views of the cavalcade and ceremony, and also a verbatim report of the splendid oration delivered by Daniel Webster. We could have published all this in an extra of yesterday, but knowing by experience that our worthy contemporaries would have stolen it without credit, we only gave them the half, and today publish the whole. Of the magnificence of this celebration, we have not room to say a word today. It hardly requires it—like the magnificent oblisk, it speaks for itself."

The Columbian contains full election returns of the Polk-Clay presidential election. The Jubilee was published annually on Independence day and is profusely illustrated with events of the day.
